Score New Ambulance Regulation Shandaken Senior Citizens Protest

The Senior Citizens Club of the Town of Shandaken has registered its discontent with the new New York law governing private ambulance service.

In a letter to Eugene Gormley, Phoenicia funeral director and owner of the ambulance service in that area, members pledged their support in protest against the "outrageous legislation."

They commended Gormley for his service to the community in the past and assured him they were "ready to do their part" in fighting the legislation which would bring "great hardships, especially to the small communities throughout our state."

'No Public Hearing'
The senior citizens' letter noted "as we understand it, no public hearing was held, in fact it seems to appear that the law, so to speak was passed under the table."

The law which was passed in the last session of the legislature regulates the personnel and equipment of ambulance services. In many Delaware County communities, it is reported funeral directors who operate ambulances as well will give up this community service when the law goes into effect Jan. 1.

Will Try to Continue
Gormley previously said he would attempt to continue his ambulance service for as long as possible.

Other rural areas and small communities throughout the state are similarly effected by the new law.

Recommend Ike Be Asked Views On War in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield suggested today former President Dwight D. Eisenhower spell out to President Johnson his view on what is needed to win the Viet Nam war — how many men and what kind of weapons.

Eisenhower, who led Allied armies to victory in Europe in World War II and was president when a cease-fire was declared in Korea, advocated at a Chicago news conference Friday the application of "as much force as we need to win."

The five-star general avoided a direct yes or no to a question whether he proposed use of nuclear weapons. But he said: "If they gave me the problem, I'd take any action to win."

Suggest Ike Speak
Mansfield noted a pack of specifics and said in an interview, "If Gen. Eisenhower has any specific ideas as to what he would do if he were in President Johnson's shoes I would suggest he make his views known to President Johnson."

Mansfield, who has opposed escalation of the war, said he was sure Johnson would receive any Eisenhower suggestions "most gratefully and consider (Continued on Page 5, Col. 1)

U.S. Bombers Continue Pounding Red Troops

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers pounded Communist troops in South Viet Nam with two raids today for a second consecutive day of double strikes.

One of the raids hit at North Vietnamese infiltration routes just south of the demilitarized zone where American Marines are fighting North Vietnamese forces in Operation Prairie.

Also Hit Friday
This is the area hit by the two B52 raids Friday. The latest bombing, at midnight Friday, struck 20 miles west of Dong Ha.

The other Stratofort raid came at noon today. The long-range bombers hit at Communist troop headquarters and supply areas 40 miles northwest of the coastal city of Qui Nhon. The heavy strike was in support of U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division troops in Operation Thayer.

Ground action across South Viet Nam was reported small and scattered once again. The only sizeable contacts were made in the two operations near the B52 raids.

Over North Viet Nam, U.S. bombers kept up their crippling pressure Friday. Pilots flew 143 bombing missions against oil depots, missile sites and transportation facilities in the Hanoi-Haiphong areas and the southern panhandle.

The U.S. command, in a delayed report, announced one American plane was shot down Thursday night during raids over North Viet Nam, the 388th such loss of the war. The plane was a two-place Air Force F4C Phantom. One crew member was rescued and the other reported missing.

In Friday's raids, carrier-based Navy pilots reported a lucrative day in strikes on cargo barges along the coast from Vinh to Thanh Hoa. Of some 60 barges sighted, the Navy fliers claimed destroying or damaging 40. Air Force pilots similarly

Start Construction Monday On City's New Post Office

Construction of the new $1.3 million post office on the site at Cornell Street and Smith Avenue, is expected to start Monday, it was learned today through usually reliable sources. The site for many years was used as a ball park and was known as the Athletic Field.

The property, formerly owned by the J. W. Matthews Inc., was recently acquired by the T. D. McCloskey Co., of Philadelphia, Pa.

Raps Infirmary In Answer to TB Hospital Usage

Norton Blue, RN, president of the Mid-Hudson Nursing Home Association, of New Paltz, today said that organization is in favor of using the Golden Hill Hospital as an extended care facility, "but not as a carbon copy of our present County Infirmary complex."

Blue made the comment in a letter to the editor of The Kingston Daily Freeman, in which he took exception as president of the association to remarks by Joseph Fitzsimmons, commissioner of the Ulster County Welfare Department, in an article published Sept. 23 about the proposed closing of the TB hospital and transfer of the "few patients" to Oneonta State Hospital.

Beds Badly Needed
The association president said that proper beds are going to be very badly needed, but even more, "a proper staff is our greater need."

Blue asserted in his letter that the Sept. 23 article "is so completely misleading as to lead to assume that either Mr. Fitzsimmons has been misquoted, has purposely given misleading information for public consumption (Continued on Page 5, Col. 4)

The grantee was represented by Joseph Manko of the law firm of Wolf, Block, Schorr and Solis-Cohen of Philadelphia, and Sherwood E. Davis, Kingston attorney, represented the grantor in the transaction.

Also attending the recent closing was Arthur Schoenherr, manager of the Chicago Title Insurance Co., who insured the title to the premises and the building to be erected thereon.

Early this summer the U. S. Post Office Department accepted the $1,320,000 bid for construction of Kingston's new post office. The bid was submitted by the McCloskey firm, which fixed a lease amount of $66,000 annually on the basis of a 20-year lease, bringing the total lease cost for the period to $1,320,000 including construction costs.

Under the P. O. Department's lease construction program the successful bidder purchased the designated property, and will construct the building according to departmental specifications and leases it to the Post Office Department for 20 years with separate and consecutive five-year renewal options.

The McCloskey firm submitted the lone bid for the project in May.

According to job plans the new post office will have an interior floor space of 34,390 square feet, (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)

Inez Lashes Cuba Again After Leaving 100 Dead In Wake; Alert Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Inez, sucking new power into her system from the tepid waters of the Caribbean, lashed and tore at Cuba again today and once more Floridians followed the killer storm's erratic course with alarm. Just when forecasters were considering the "all clear" sign for Florida, Inez crossed them up during the night with a westward turn that brought all of Communist Cuba in range of her howling winds and torrential rains.

Seen As Menace

And, as Prime Minister Fidel Castro glumly watched an economic disaster develop in his already tottering nation, Inez became again a definite menace to the U.S. mainland.

With more than 100 dead in her wake and possibly many more, Inez screamed out of the southeast into Cuba's easternmost Oriente Province Friday, battering that agriculturally rich area with wind gusts up to 138 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau thought then she would veer northward, come off the island into the Atlantic, then hammer the central Bahamas on a track that would keep her clear of Florida.

But Inez never got to Cuba's north coast. Instead, she thrashed to west-northwest back into the Caribbean and howled along the south edge of the island on a snake-like course that is expected to bring her close to Havana late today.

Red Chinese Renew Pledge of Support

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China marked its 17th anniversary today with a pledge to support the Vietnamese Communists to the end and a warning to the United States not to force China into war.

Defense Minister Lin Piao, speaking for party Chairman Mao Tse-tung and the Central Committee of the Communist party, told a cheering throng of millions:

Are Determined

"We are determined to support to the end the fight of the fraternal Vietnamese people in resisting America and saving their country, whatever sacrifice we have to make."

He also echoed an editorial in the Peking People's Daily which warned the United States that if it dared to force China into war "several millions of bravely fighting Liberation Army troops and several tens of millions of militia and Red Guards who are the fraternal rear of the Liberation Army" would be waiting.

The 58-year-old bespectacled defense minister, the No. 2 man in the Communist Chinese hierarchy, appeared with Mao and other leaders of the state and party before a crowd estimated at 2 1/2 to 3 million persons in Peking's Gate of Heavenly Peace Square.

Peking radio, monitored in Tokyo, announced earlier that the anniversary also marked the premiere of a color film of Red China's three nuclear blasts, which "smash the nuclear blackmail" of the Soviet Union and the United States.

End April Grand Jury Term With 5 Recommendations

Five recommendations involving the grand jury room and Ulster County Jail, were handed up by the April Grand Jury prior to dismissal by County Judge Raymond J. Mino on Thursday.

The recommendations, all handed up by previous grand juries, included renovation of and addition to present jail facilities with provision made for segregation of those convicted and those awaiting trial, and of juveniles from adults.

Needs Listed

The remaining four suggestions included installation of a lounge and exhaust fan in the grand jury room; improvement of facilities for the Ulster County Jail matron; investigation of possible increased pay for grand jurors; and payment of mileage for city residents serving on the grand jury who must drive or pay bus fare.

Judge Mino noted that despite the suggestions, matters lay in the hands of the Board of Supervisors. He suggested jurors contact his or her supervisor after returning home.

Prior to excusing members of the April grand jury from further work, County Judge Raymond J. Mino on Thursday thanked members for their long services. From 29 open indictments and 10 dismissals, handed up Thursday and the indictments noted in partial reports previously, Judge Mino said there was every indication that the long session had been a busy one.

He noted that it was in Kingston at the very site where this Grand Jury had functioned that the first grand jury in the history of the state had been sworn in. He spoke briefly on the importance of the Grand Jury and said that now, after serving as Grand jurors, the members better knew of the functions as outlined in the oath of office the jurors took when they entered union their deliberations last April.

In reporting to the Court the Grand Jury expressed thanks to the District Attorney and his (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)

Chest Events Are Delayed by Rains, Slated on Monday

A varied program of entertainment, parade, awards and fireworks scheduled for today in connection with the official kickoff of the 1967 Ulster County Community Chest fund campaign has been postponed due to rain.

The events will be held on Monday at the hours previously announced.

Sam S. Fraton, public relations director for the drive said today that the quota has been received in the drive which started today.

Entertainment, awards and a fireworks display will highlight a free night of enjoyment at Dietz Stadium Monday night. A parade is scheduled to start at Kingston High School at 7 p. m. Marchers and vehicles will move from that point and proceed up Broadway to Clinton Avenue, through Main Street to Wall, along Wall to North Front and then to Dietz Stadium where the show is scheduled to start at 8 p. m.

The parade will consist of floats by the 13 agencies depicting their services to the community.

More than 100 awards will be given during the program. The public is invited. There is no admission charge.

The visits planned to Port Ewen, Rosendale, New Paltz and Saugerties, have been cancelled.

List Paltz Man 48th Auto Fatal In One-Car Crash Along Route 208

The month of October was only one hour old when a one car accident on Route 208 in the Town of New Paltz claimed the life of a 21-year-old youth in that community. The accident, which occurred at 1 a. m. today about one mile south of the Village of New Paltz, was the first this month in Ulster County and boosted the county's traffic death toll for 1966 to a startling 48.

State Police at the Highland barracks identified the dead man as Raymond Banks, 21 of RFD 2, New Paltz and said cause of death was unknown pending an autopsy later today by Coroner William S. Keyser.

Injured in the accident was the driver of the vehicle, Dennis Wirthmann, 20, of New Paltz. Wirthmann was taken to Kingston City Hospital where he was treated and released for abrasions of the head and minor contusions of the body. Arrested by Trooper R. B. Whalen for driving while intoxicated, Wirthmann is scheduled for a court appearance on Oct. 16.

According to law enforcement authorities, Wirthmann and his passenger were northbound on Route 208 when the driver lost control, ran off the right side of the road, headed back across the highway, veered off the left side of the road, knocking down two metal guard posts and striking a tree and overturning.

Partially Ejected

The dead man, Banks, was partially ejected from the automobile and pinned between the vehicle and the ground. Au-

Udall Stresses Historical Sites In Tour of Area

National attention was once again focused on Ulster County in this election year of 1966 as Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall followed President Lyndon B. Johnson's earlier lead in visiting this area.

The excitement generated by the Chief Executive's motorcade through the southern part of the county and his hospital dedication speech at Ellenville in August, was somewhat equalled, at least for historical and educational groups locally, on Friday, when Udall's party was welcomed at various spots in the 28th Congressional District.

The Secretary of the Interior, visiting the Hudson Valley at the invitation of Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Ellenville), toured several historical landmarks locally, including Sam's Point, the old Delaware and Hudson Canal at High Falls, the much-in-the-news Perrine's Covered Bridge at Rifton, the Rondout and Stockade sections of Kingston, Lake Mohawk Gatehouse in New Paltz and Red Hook.

Praises Resnick

Here in Kingston, Secretary Udall spoke at a luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel, where he paid high tribute to both Resnick and the eye-catching grandeur of the immediate countryside. Said Udall, "The 28th Congressional District should be very proud to have a congressman who works so hard for his (Continued on Page 5, Col. 6)

Mayor's Staff to Study School District Taxes

A study of district school taxes is to be made by the staff of Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan and a report will be given on findings, he revealed in a statement released today.

The statement: "The city government has nothing to do with the school budget, but people in the city blame the mayor's office. As mayor of the city of Kingston, I have called attention to the mounting school tax rate and the implications that it has for property owners in the city."

The recent tax bills sent to the property owners of the Kingston City Schools Consolidated graphically tell the story. The following tabulation indicates this condition:

| Town | 1965 | 1966 | Dollars | Per Cent |
|------------------|-----------|-----------|----------|----------|
| Esopus | $ 74,073 | $ 99,872 | $25,799 | 34 |
| Hurley | 70,369 | 89,360 | 18,991 | 26 |
| Kingston | 74,072 | 89,360 | 15,288 | 20 |
| Rosendale | 117,281 | 121,274 | 3,993 | 3 |
| Ulster | 93,825 | 121,274 | 27,449 | 27 |
| Woodstock | 100,526 | 121,274 | 20,748 | 21 |
| City of Kingston | 40,211 | 45,887 | 5,676 | 14 |

"The apathy of taxpayers in the district has worried me. Either they do not understand the financial operation of the school system or they are so confused that they are unable to express their opinion."

"Accordingly, I have instructed my staff to make a study of the school tax rates. We will study the per pupil school costs of respective areas of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. In due course we will report to the people of Kingston. If we find that local school costs are in line, we will so advise the people. If we find that our local school costs are excessive, the mayor's office will then take the leadership in determining the causes, and of course, report to the people."

"This problem is not alone that of the City of Kingston. Other towns in this school district should also take a hard look. While school taxes increased $5.67 per $1,000 in Kingston, the increase was $27.44 in the Town of Ulster, (Continued on Page 5, Col. 1)

PARSONAGE SOLD — The Comforter Reformed Church parsonage, 51 Wynkoop Place, has been sold to Michael Perry of Kingston for $17,000. The two-story brick residence formerly served as parsonage with the Rev. Patrick R. Vostello and family living in the eight-room apartment on the first floor. The five-room apartment on the second floor was rented. The pastor and his family moved Thursday to their new home, a two-story brick residence at 38 Lincoln Street off Clifton Avenue. The new quarters include three bedrooms, living room, dining room, study, kitchen and bath. The Wynkoop Place residence is about 74 years old. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr)

Inflation Bill Clears House by Wide Margin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's bill to squeeze some of the business-spending steam out of the swollen U. S. economy has cleared the House and now faces efforts in the Senate to exempt various industries.

The measure would suspend for about 16 months the 7 percent investment tax credit that has helped produce a boom in machinery and equipment buying, plus fast depreciation provisions that encourage construction of industrial, commercial and apartment buildings.

About the time the House was passing the bill 221 to 118 Friday, Johnson was appealing to 10 more governors to trim public spending in their states in conjunction with the administration's anti-inflation program.

All but one of the 10 governors indicated a willingness to try to do some economizing, Gov. Paul B. Johnson, Mississippi Democrat, remained silent when the governors met with newsmen after the third in a series of White House conferences Johnson is holding with state chief executives.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a Republican, said he told the President: "I know all of us want to cooperate with you."

But one governor who met with the President earlier in the week, Republican Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, said Johnson is to blame for inflation. Bellmon told an Oklahoma City news conference the federal government should try to curb its spending before asking the states to.

But Bellmon apparently didn't get this point over to Johnson. "There's very little discussion when you meet with the President," he said. "Mostly, it's just listening."

The bill suspending the tax advantages was approved by the House on a vote that largely — but not entirely — followed party lines.

Democrats urged the action as part of Johnson's anti-inflation program which also includes an announced $3 billion cut in spending under budget figures and a hold up in certain forms of government agency borrowing.

Republicans expressed skepticism about the promised spending cuts and said Johnson should have acted earlier and more drastically to cut back or postpone Great Society programs. (Continued on Page 5, Col. 2)

Former Korean Diplomat to Be Unitarian Guest

This Sunday the Unitarian Fellowship of Ulster County will have as their guest speaker, Dr. Channing Liem, professor of political science at New Paltz University. Dr. Liem will have as his subject, Should We Trust in God or in Power.

Dr. Liem was born in Korea and was, at an early age, tutored in Confucian learning. Later he was sent to a Christian, western-oriented academy. In 1930 he came to the United States for further study and attended Lafayette College, Princeton University, and Yale University where he received his Ph.D.

During World War II he served as consultant on Korean, Japanese and Chinese affairs for the U. S. Office of Censorship and the Office of War Information. Following the war he returned to his native country, Korea, and served as Korean Affairs Advisor to the United States Military government in Korea.

Returning to the U. S. in 1949, he taught at Chatham College, Lehigh University and the New York State University College at New Paltz. From 1949 to 1960, in addition to teaching at these institutions, he traveled extensively in Europe, Africa and the Middle East.

Broke With Rhee

As early as the 1930's his interest in helping Korea, which was then under the Japanese rule, regain her independence led him to associate with such Korean exiles as Syngman Rhee and others. During World War II he was appointed to serve as the chairman of the Committee on Education of the Korean Commission to the United States which was the diplomatic agent of the Korean Provisional Government.

In the 1950's Dr. Liem's devotion to democracy, constitutional government led him to openly break with President Syngman Rhee and acted as unofficial spokesman of the opposition to the dictatorial Rhee regime in the United States.

Was UN Ambassador

In 1960, following the fall of the Rhee Government, he was appointed by the democratic government of John M. Chang to serve as the Republic of Korea's Ambassador to the United Nations. Early in 1961 he was sent to Africa as Korea's special envoy to the newly created African nations. In the summer of 1961, when the democratic government was toppled by a military coup, he resigned his diplomatic post in protest.

Declining offers of diplomatic posts by the present Korean Government he has held a professorship at New Paltz.

He is the author of The Life of Phillip Jaisohn: the First Korean Student in America and numerous articles on Far Eastern affairs.

The Unitarian Fellowship of Ulster County meets at the Pickett House, Neighborhood Road and Lohmaier Lane, Lake Katrine, adjacent to the Kingston IBM plant. Meetings start at 10:30 a. m. and all are open to the public.

Dutchess Church Sets Sunday School Opening

St. Gregory's Orthodox Church, Route 365 and Vandewater Drive, Wappingers Falls will begin the church school year on Sunday, Oct. 2.

Father Peter Stehnoch announces that classes will begin at 9:30 a. m. and divine liturgy will begin at 10:15 a. m. with vespers at 7 p. m. All services are in English.

The following teachers are assigned: Pre-school, Mrs. Sergei Dynhkevich, Mrs. Michael Dimisko and Mrs. Adolf Terry; primary, Mrs. Paul Jubinsky and Mrs. John Chobor; secondary, Miss Barbara Jubinsky and Mrs. Alexander Homonchak; juniors, Mrs. Daniel Sopchak.

Registration will be before classes Sunday.

Accord Church Schedules 10th Annual Tour in Area

The 266 year-old Rochester Reformed Church, Route 209, Accord, N. Y. will sponsor its tenth annual Stone House Day Saturday, Oct. 8.

Guided tours of historic houses of the area will start from the church between the hours of 11 a. m. and 5 p. m. Luncheon will be served by women of the church from 11 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. Refreshments will be available on the tour later in the afternoon. At the church there will be booths with homemade foods and handmade articles for sale.

The first settlers were attracted to what is now Accord by the good bottomland soil along the Rondout Creek. The first recorded land grant in the area is dated Sept. 4, 1676. In 1700, the settlers built a church of logs. In 1701, the church was organized officially, under the supervision of the Reformed Church in Kingston, with supply preaching from Kingston and Albany. In 1703, the Town of Rochester was formed by a Patent from the English Crown. Thus, the Rochester Reformed Church was one of the earliest church organizations in the country. Pre-Revolutionary headstones may be seen in the cemetery behind the church.

Choose New Site

In 1742, a new larger "lot of ground" was chosen for the church, and a year later, due to Indian trouble, a stone fort was built containing the place of worship. In 1750, the Rochester Church separated itself from the supervision of Kingston. Beginning in 1766 it shared a full time minister with Marlborough and Wawarsing. The minister from 1781 to 1785 had received a Doctor of Divinity degree from Princeton College, and went from the Rochester Church to become president of Queens College, now Rutgers University, in New Brunswick, N. J.

A new wooden church was built in 1860, with pillars on the front and a spire, and a seating capacity, including a balcony, of six hundred persons. Twice since that time the church building has been destroyed by fire. The present building, the fifth on the site, dates from 1921.

Have Dutch Pastor

The present pastor of the church is the Rev. Gerard Van Dyk.

The Rev. Mr. VanDyk, born in Holland in 1926, came to Canada with his family in 1952. Most of the family now resides in the province of Alberta, Canada. Deciding to further his education.

Special Series Starts Sunday at Fair St. Church

The Fair Street Reformed Church announces that a series of four Sunday evening sessions to be held at the church giving Protestants and Roman Catholics the opportunity to study and discuss together, will begin this Sunday at 7 p. m.

The series, led by Father Theodorus MacVicar of the Capuchin Seminary in Glencliff, Garrison, is designed to set an atmosphere of dialogue between the two faiths, as the movement of the church since St. Francis is held before them.

Father MacVicar, educator, author, and retreat leader, received his doctorate in Rome and presently is a professor at the seminary. He comes to Fair Street Church at the invitation of Father Gavin Reilly who is a fellow professor at Garrison and Ladycliff College, who has addressed a number of groups in Kingston in the past.

The program of the evening will begin with a short period of devotions at 7 o'clock. This is held with two youth fellowship groups. At 7:15 the groups divide into separate sessions and continue until 8:15 when refreshments are served.

This meeting is open to all interested Roman Catholics and Protestants.

Create Fake Ocean

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists can now study ocean currents, waves and the surf without getting even a toe wet.

An engineering firm here has created a miniature ocean enabling scientists to study the effects of waves and ocean movements.

The tank, which measures 6 by 13 by 10 feet, can be used to simulate nearly every type of ocean wave action, say its developers.

Autumn Banquet Slated by GOP

Saugerties Republican Committee, through chairman Louis P. Francello, announces that the annual fall banquet will be held at the Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9W, Saturday Oct. 15 at 7:30 p. m.

William Brown, town superintendent of highways, will serve as general chairman; Clifford Snyder, ticket chairman; Louis P. Francello, advertising chairman; Bernard Rinaldi, master of ceremonies; Michael Catalinotto, guest chairman, and town justice of the peace, William D. Brinnier, publicity chairman.

Candidates running for County, State, and Federal offices will be present at the banquet to meet those in attendance and to deliver short speeches.

Each year, Republican Town Committee members, or the 22 committeemen from the election district, present the fall banquet, Saugerties Republican Club, headed by president George Turner, handled the spring banquet and the fall picnic.

Francello says that with the committee and the Republican Club working hand-in-hand, the strength of Republicanism in the Saugerties area cannot help but grow. He stressed the need for Republican victory at all levels of government from Congressional candidate, Hamilton Fish Jr., to the State level, headed by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Republicans and other citizens are urged to participate in the fall banquet. Tickets may be secured through the following Republican Committeemen: William D. Brinnier, Frank Naccarato, William Schaffer, Charles Scala, Ned Bond, Robert A. Snyder, Albert Rickerson, Robert B. Smith, Theodore Carlson, Frank Hommel, Freeman Lasher, Frank Ferracane, Clarence Gardner, Louis P. Francello, Thomas F. Mayone, Henry Lamouree, William Woestendiek, Donald Martin, George W. Brink, Bernard Rinaldi and Clifford Snyder.

The Inner City Discussed at P-TA

Introduction of officers and committee heads by President Karl Pietkiewicz; a greeting by Sister Mary Leo, school principal; and discussion of "The Inner City Program" highlighted the recent meeting of St. Mary of the Snow P-TA.

With sorrow because of the death of Vice-President-Elect Jack Page, the P-TA board of directors announced the appointment of Mrs. Kurt Gruber to serve his term. Mrs. William Rooney is secretary and Robert Carpenter is treasurer. Mrs. Albert Curl will head the special gifts committee. Mrs. Alan Roos the lunch program and Mrs. Harold Wilsey, publicity.

Cutting parents and teachers "coordinators of the children." Sister Mary Leo offered the cooperation of teachers and asked the help of parents. Mothers are needed for lunch duty and the physical fitness program needs "anyone who would like to keep physically fit," including a man to give two hours a month for the seventh and eighth grade boys. She announced that the date for First Communion has been set for Dec. 3.

Sister Elaine Marie has been named principal of the school of religion, which teaches release time classes on Wednesday afternoons. Anyone who is able to teach or to help with this work is asked to contact her.

Attired in the new white summer habit of the Sisters of Charity, Sister Francis de Lourdes described her eight week "summer in the city." Armed with a government grant which permitted the hiring of professional artists, musicians and dramatists, religious in New York City organized 40 centers throughout the city. She described the block parties which they organized "right on the street" in order to help people in one area or even in one apartment house to know one another.

After Father Charles Kaufmann, pastor of St. Mary's, greeted members, the meeting was adjourned. Refreshments were served by the eighth grade mothers, with Mrs. John Carr and Mrs. Louis Spada as co-chairmen.

London Bishop To Be Speaker At Cathedral

The Rt. Rev. and Rt. Hon. Robert Wright Stopford, Bishop of London, will preach at the 11 a. m. service of the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine on October 2. This is the first time he has ever preached at the Cathedral.

During his visit to the United States, Bishop Stopford will also preach at several other churches in this area, among them St. John's Church, Yonkers, at 5 p. m. Oct. 2; Grace Church, Manhattan, at the 11 a. m. service on Oct. 9; and Trinity Church, Manhattan, at the British Harvest Festival Service on Oct. 9 at 3:30 p. m.

Bishop Stopford will address the annual clergy conference of the Episcopal Diocese of New York, to be held at the Hotel Thayer, West Point, on Monday, Oct. 3. The Church Club of New York will give a luncheon in his honor at the University Club on Tuesday, Oct. 4.

Nominate Bishop of London by Queen Elizabeth II in 1961. Bishop Stopford is well known in the Anglican Communion for his work as Episcopal Secretary of the 1958 Lambeth Conference. As Bishop of Peterborough, he toured the United States in 1960, speaking on Education for Christian Living in an adult education program sponsored by the Executive Council of the Episcopal Church.

Scouts Forming Seniors' Troop

Saugerties Neighborhood of Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts held its first meeting of the season recently at the Saugerties Savings Bank, followed by a basketry workshop.

New members were welcomed and the year's program outlined in a "Welcome Leader" memorandum directed to all 20 troop leaders.

Mrs. Mary Hoffman, Neighborhood Chairman, presided at the meeting and introduced the Service Team to leaders. The Team includes three consultants: Mrs. G. Holloran, Cadette level for girls 12 through 14; Mrs. R. Guess, Junior level for girls nine through 11; and Mrs. H. Swech, Brownie level for girls seven and eight; and the Troop Organizer, Mrs. J. Luley, who is responsible for setting up new troops and finding leaders.

Saugerties Neighborhood is happy to announce that a Senior Troop has been formed under the leadership of Mrs. D. Reed and will meet on Wednesdays from 7 to 8:30 p. m. at the Main Street cafeteria. Any girl (age 14 through 17) interested in joining this troop should contact Mrs. Reed or go directly to the meetings Wednesday.

There are still some openings in the various troops and any girl, seven through 17, who would like to become a Girl Scout, should call either Mrs. Luley or Mrs. Hoffman.

Conduct Candy Sale

Saugerties Jaycees will conduct a door-to-door campaign to sell Halloween candy to community residents, Oct. 4 and 5 from 7 to 8:30 p. m.

Proceeds from the sale of the candy will be used to purchase pre-school reading books of the Saugerties Library.

Plan Card Social

Malden-West Camp Fire Auxiliary is planning a card social on Saturday, Oct. 15, beginning at 8 p. m. at the West Camp Firehouse. Secretary Gaetana Sowles urges all those interested in an evening of entertainment to attend.

SUPPORT THE CHEST

The Ulster County Community Chest today starts the job of raising $299,600 to help finance its 13 member agency for the coming year.

Chest funds are distributed to health, welfare and recreational agencies in Ulster County, which actually do the work of caring for the community's need through the Association for Retarded Children, the Boys' Club, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, Gateway Industries, Jewish Community Center, Salvation Army, USO, United Cerebral Palsy, YMCA, YWCA, Red Cross and Mental Health.

The Chest operates in the City of Kingston and the towns of Rosendale, Esopus, Hurley, Kingston, Marletown, New Paltz, Saugerties and Ulster.

These participating agencies are essential to the welfare of the community and everyone of us, directly or indirectly, benefit from their work in the communities.

A strong effort will be made this year to get the full support of all citizens who benefit from the Chest. Funds of the Chest are budgeted and spent prudently in the greatest public interest. We heartily recommend wholehearted support by all the people.

The success of the Chest financial campaign depends on broad citizen participation. Everyone should get behind the Chest because the services of its 13 agencies are behind every citizen.

Here's a financial campaign that needs and merits our generous support.

LOOK TO SURVEYOR III

The brilliant success of the Surveyor I lunar photographic mission remains bright enough in memory to lessen the gloom occasioned by the Surveyor II debacle. Had the initial shot faltered, Surveyor II's smashup would rank as a heavy setback in our space program. As it is, the malfunction that plunged the vehicle into the moon can be regarded as no more than an unfortunate episode.

It can be regarded so, that is, if one concentrates on the big picture and minimizes the cost in money and man hours. There will be other Surveyors to carry on the work begun so sensationally by the first of the line.

The mishap is nevertheless a timely reminder that Surveyor shots are a delicate and chancy undertaking. Surveyor I, as the saying goes, defied the odds against success; Surveyor II succumbed to them. On later flights, the chances of perfect performance will continue to be rather low. But the flights must be carried out as a necessary prelude to a manned lunar expedition. We must take Surveyor II's failure in stride, and look to Surveyor III to do the job.

AND THEY MAY NOT CARE

An academic (one hopes) question was inadvertently raised when Britain's private but authoritative Institute for Strategic Studies discussed the relative merits of Soviet and American nuclear weapons systems. The Institute reported, in essence, that where as Soviet intercontinental missiles have more powerful warheads, the U.S. missiles are more accurate.

The question, then, is whether it is more effective to drop a monster bang in the neighborhood of the target, or to come closer with a smaller bang. It's the sort of question whose pros and cons could be argued all night. Moreover, it is a question that can never be settled, except perhaps to the satisfaction of the few survivors of a nuclear war. And they, one suspects, would be more interested in certain other questions—such as how to go on living in a ruined world.

CANADIANS' WANDERLUST

It seems quite logical that Americans should be the world's "traveling" people. They aren't.

Based on percentage of population, more Canadians than Americans take foreign trips, report travel and tourism authorities. They also spend about $35 per capita on travel, which is more than four times the amount spent by U.S. citizens and higher than any other nationality.

Global View

By LEON DENNEN
Foreign News Analyst
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (NEA) — Russia's Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko continues to castigate American colonialism and imperialism but, according to veteran observers, his words no longer carry conviction. They even lack revolutionary zeal.

Pointing an accusing finger at predatory American capitalism is, of course, Gromyko's Marxist-Leninist stock-in-trade. But one must listen to him as he speaks to the United Nations delegates in Russian to realize that the four-faced man has mellowed considerably. His new image is hardly conveyed by the trained and monotonous voices of the U.N.'s English interpreters.

Russia's foreign minister is one Red bureaucrat who survived many purges. He served many masters in the Kremlin. If ordered, he can again employ brutal threats and spice his long-winded speeches with Marxist-Leninist clichés.

But for the present, at least, it suits Gromyko to tread a bit more softly. He obviously reflects the concern of his uneasy leaders in Moscow.

Faced with Red China's relentless assaults, they are not quite sure what Russia's course should be in international affairs.

History has indeed changed profoundly in the last six years. It was only at the 1960 session of the United Nations General Assembly that Nikita Khrushchev took off his shoe and banged his desk with it as a gesture of contempt for the Western capitalists.

Then Russia was still the undisputed leader of a monolithic bloc of Communist states. The Soviet version of communism seemed the wave of the future in many of the emerging nations of Africa and Asia.

Today, the Communists are in serious trouble in Indonesia, Algeria, Ghana, Nigeria, Kenya, Malaya, India and the Congo.

Algeria's Ben Bella disappeared without a trace. Sukarno, stripped of all power, is little more than a figurehead. He could not even prevent Indonesia from rejoining the United Nations.

Ghana's Kwame Nkrumah is a wandering exile. Even Egypt's President Nasser is struggling hard to stay in power.

In Western Europe, the younger generation of Communists, taking their cue from Red China, consider the pro-Soviet revisionists as "tired revolutionists." In their view, the official pro-Russian Communist parties have become "square" organizations. Their leaders are flabby and middle-aged bureaucrats who show all signs of sclerotic degeneration of their Marxist-Leninist ideological tissues.

This view of the "Muscovite parties" is also held by the "new left" in the United States.

Even more significant is the growing spirit of independence among Russia's East European satellites. Nowhere is this more evident than in the halls of the United Nations.

The Romanian, taking advantage of the Russian-Chinese rift, have decided to go into business for themselves. They are trying to convince anyone who will listen to them that they are no longer Moscow's satellite. Yet Romania was once Russia's most servile satellite.

Some East Europeans make no secret of their belief that the Viet Cong cannot win in Viet Nam. They hint broadly that it is now in Russia's interest to stop Red China's expansion in Southeast Asia.

"Moscow would like a negotiated settlement in Viet Nam that would not embarrass Russia in maintaining her image as the leader of anti-colonialism and national liberation movements," one East European diplomat said.

Andrei Gromyko is still leading at this session of the U.N. from weakness and not from strength. Even as he condemns American colonialism, he must be aware of Mao Tse-tung's recent statement that Russia is today the most greedy imperialistic country in the world.

Your Dental Health

If Tongue Burns, Poor Bite May Be Responsible
By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Dr. Lawrence:
For over six months I have been having a burning sensation on the right side of my tongue. Sometimes it goes away, but when I'm nervous it gets worse. I smoke a pack of cigarettes a day, but I stopped smoking for seven whole days and didn't get any relief.

A burning sensation on side of tongue is considered by many doctors to be a neurological symptom and is one of a group of symptoms known as Coster's Syndrome, or hinge joint dysfunction. The hinge joint of the jaw seems to be the focal point of patients' complaints which include pain and tenderness over the joint, pain in and around the ear and side of head, catarrhal deafness, dizziness, snapping noise during jaw movement, deviation of jaw on opening and restricted movement, ringing or buzzing in ear, headache, burning sensation on side of tongue and palate and sometimes metallic taste.

It's believed that these symptoms result from destruction of normal function of the hinge joint because of early and continued loss of molar teeth, or poor bite of either the natural or false teeth. These conditions put eccentric pressures on the joint which eventually breaks down.

Treatment consists of replacing missing teeth and restoring the bite to its normal, harmonious position. But since this treatment is often complicated and lengthy, sufferers are usually first treated for relief of pain. For instance, it helps to limit diet to soft foods for a few days; apply hot, wet compresses to side of face over joint and take aspirin for relief of aches.

There may also be systemic causes of burning tongue. A type of anemia is thought to be involved sometimes, and vitamin deficiency has also been put forward as a cause.

Some doctors think it's pure "nerves." One recently told me he couldn't find anything wrong with a patient who had these complaints. As an experiment, he told the patient that in his judgment the cause was due to vitamin deficiency. After taking vitamins for one day the patient said he felt better. But if lack of vitamins was the cause, it would take a considerably longer period of continued dosage to give relief.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

AVIATION 'AUTOPSY' PLAN

As the number of private business and pleasure aircraft swiftly rises, the number of accidents involving such planes also goes up. The Civil Aeronautics Board has made an interesting though somewhat unorthodox proposal intended to help reduce the accident rate.

Autopsies are customarily not performed on victims of private plane crashes. What the CAB proposes is to establish a nationwide group of pathologists alerted to respond to emergency calls from crash investigators. The cooperation of the College of American Pathologists is being sought.

The plan is a good one. Though it would be foolish to expect too much from autopsy findings, such findings might help considerably in learning the cause of private air crashes. This in turn would help to prevent future accidents. The importance of this is evident at a time when private flying is on the increase.

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY,

MANILA (NEA) — There's a lesson here for the Viet Nam war.

Frequent confirmed reports from the Philippine hill areas tell of a vigorous rearguard of the old Communist Huk terrorist movement — particularly in central Luzon.

The Philippine government is now building up its counter-guerrilla action units. Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos, in his recent trip to the United States, made it a point to ask for aid to equip 10 Philippine army engineer battalions to work in a stepped-up civic action campaign.

This is like the rerun of an old movie. A number of years before Viet Nam, the Philippines, with American cooperation, organized a vigorous campaign to wipe out the Communist Huk movement and its political and terrorist underground.

That anti-Huk campaign was well-run. It combined excellent military tactics with a successful forgiveness and resettlement program for those rebels and rebel co-operators who gave themselves up. When that series of anti-Huk campaigns was over—and it took years—the Communist underground movement seemed dead militarily and politically.

Time passed. It is now clear the Huk movement is not dead. It is growing. The Huk control areas, run active terrorist programs and have their organizers out in surrounding territories as part of an aggressive expansion program.

The Huk movement as of today is no serious threat to the government. But that isn't the point. It's that, like Bermuda grass, these Red undergrounds keep coming back. Officials think the movement dead. Then, presto, it's alive.

In Malaysia there are still pockets of Red guerrillas despite the highly successful British 10-year campaign which "wiped out" the guerrilla movement.

Mao Tse-tung's Reds fought Chiang Kai-shek's government armies for 20 years before winning. Time and again Mao's Communists were mopped up in bloody campaigns, their numbers reduced to small bands hiding out in isolated areas.

But Mao's Reds kept coming back—regrouping and expanding again with a handful of political-military organizers.

The same problem faces us in South Viet Nam.

A highly successful Viet Cong organizer in one province reported that years back all of his men were wiped out except he himself, and two others. They patiently started again from scratch.

The war cannot stop with military victory or even with the establishment of a stable, democratic government.

For even with all this, underground cells will not have been destroyed.

There will need to be a continual alert and counteraction. There is no easy formula for achieving this vaccination against recurrence.

There will have to be experimenting with one technique after another until the answer is found.

Noted Pioneer Pilot to Speak Here on Sunday

NEW PALTZ — Friends and neighbors in the community may attend the 20th Century Club on Sunday, October 2nd, at 7:30 p. m. in the Reformed Church of New Paltz Education Building, where the speaker will be Captain Harold F. Blackburn, a man of rare ability and accomplishments. Dessert will be served before the program by Dr. and Mrs. Charles Stokes and committee.

Captain Blackburn is a man of wide experiences and has been the subject of articles, books and films. It was possible to persuade him to travel here from his farm in Pennsylvania because he is combining his appearance at 20th Century Club with a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Albert Beard of New Paltz, and her family.

Captain Blackburn whose air time equals three years spent above the earth's surface, has been an active pilot since 1919. In his globe girdling career, he has flown 6,500,000 miles and crossed the Atlantic 766 times. He has piloted practically every type of air conveyance from TWA's giant Super Jets to a parachute.

In World War 2 he directed the first over-ocean operation of land based transports. He piloted Generals Marshall and Vandenberg and Admiral King, with members of the President's Cabinet to the first war meetings with Prime Minister Churchill. He also planned the trip and furnished the planes for President Roosevelt's wartime flights overseas.

In February 1946, Captain Blackburn flew TWA's first flight as a scheduled international carrier, from New York to Paris. He also flew the flights commemorating the 10th and 15th anniversaries of the international inaugural.

Captain Blackburn's honors are many. In 1932 he was co-winner of the Mavry Trophy, awarded for the Air Force's most meritorious peacetime service. He won it for dropping food to snowbound Indians. He was decorated by the Italian government for his work in re-establishing Italy's airlines after the war, and in 1946 was named by the Washington Post as that year's Ideal Father.

He retired from flying in January 1962. His last flight, in command of a TWA Superjet from Rome to New York was the subject of an hour-long television documentary.

Campus School Plans Open House Meeting Monday

The New Paltz Campus School P-TA has announced it will hold an open house from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. preceding the first meeting on Oct. 3. This will give parents an opportunity to visit their children's classrooms and teachers. Dr. George W. Bond, Campus School principal, reports.

At the business meeting, Dr. Bond will introduce recently arrived teachers and will discuss new features of the school. The budget for the school year will be presented and a social hour in the school cafeteria will follow the meeting.

Dr. Bond will also briefly explain the testing program carried on at the school during the past week. The school is now administering California Achievement Tests to all children in grades 3 through 9 and California intelligence tests are being given to children in odd-numbered grades. Results of the tests are used by administrators and teachers of school systems in planning their work to best meet both individual and group needs.

Children are admitted to the Campus School on a "lottery" basis, and an application may be submitted each spring by any parent in the New Paltz School District. Almost all openings are for first grade children. The school conducts several experimental programs in math, language, and nature teaching as part of its first grade through junior high studies.

Next week, the fifth grade will spend several days at the 375 acre College Camp near the Ashokan Reservoir to study natural resources. Consultants from New York City Water Department will be present along with Dr. Irene Van de Water, Professor of Biology at the College and Mrs. Ruth Smiley, who assisted in the establishment.

Study Club Luncheon Scheduled on Tuesday

Members of the New Paltz Study Club will begin their new season with a luncheon to be held at Hickory Manor on Tuesday, Oct. 4 at 12:30 p. m.

Reservations should be made early. Mrs. Willard Waddell, president, will ask for brief reports from some of the chairmen. All members are requested to bring any monies they have on hand from House Tour donations.

Shop-Rite to Mark 15th Anniversary With Sweepstakes

Ten couples will win seven day Roman Holidays in Shop-Rite Market's giant 1500 prize "Italian Fun 'N' Food Festival Sweepstakes," a special celebration in honor of Shop-Rite's 15th Anniversary. Selections will be held each week during the four-week festival.

The Roman Holiday prizes include transportation to Rome via an Alitalia jetliner, accommodations at the Cavalieri Hilton Hotel atop one of Rome's famed seven hills, plus $100 cash from Shop-Rite.

In addition to the vacations, five second prizes of new Fiat 1100R four-door sedans will be awarded. One hundred $50 "Nights on the Town" and 1,385 food certificates valued at $5 will also be given away.

Entry blanks are being published in all Shop-Rite newspaper advertisements during the anniversary celebration. No purchase is required, just deposit of the entry blank.

Two Rome trips and one new car will be awarded weekly for the first three weeks of the sweepstakes. During the final week, four Rome trips and two new cars will be awarded. The remaining prizes will be drawn from all entries submitted.

There are two Shop-Rite Supermarkets in the Kingston area, one on Route 9W at Boice's Lane, Town of Ulster, and a second one on Route 9W in Port Ewen. The chain was founded when several New Jersey stores banded together. Today the chain has spread into six states, with 200 markets serving over two million shoppers per week.

them seriously and with great respect.

But the Democratic leader said Eisenhower's statement "needs amplification and answers to such questions as does he think we need 750,000, 1 million, 2 million men to win? What kind of weapons would he use and what does he mean when he said, 'I'd take any action to win'?"

Not Familiar
When newsmen in Chicago asked Eisenhower to elaborate on what measures he would take, the general said, "I'm not sure — I'm not on the ground. I'm not familiar with all the political considerations."

Despite the general's disclaimer, Mansfield expressed belief Eisenhower "is very familiar with the situation in Viet Nam because I'm sure the President has kept him informed of much of the developments either personally or through emissaries to him."

United Nations Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg conferred with Johnson Friday and later told newsmen "the door is open" to the possibility of Viet Nam peace talks.

No Undue Optimism
While emphasizing that he did not want to inspire undue optimism, Goldberg indicated he was not discouraged by public Communist reaction to his proposals last week for promoting a Viet Nam settlement.

"It would have been unrealistic to expect immediately an unrealistic reply" from the Communists, Goldberg said.

Johnson also met at the White House with 10 governors with the discussion ranging from anti-inflation moves to Viet Nam. Concerning the war, Johnson said he told the governors, "I thought the situation had improved there from the military viewpoint and from the political viewpoint and this is getting better every day."

In Mexico City, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the United States has "tried in many ways and more than half the governments in the United Nations have tried to bring about negotiations" on Viet Nam.

"The United States has said yes to all these proposals. Hanoi has said no. So our problem is to find someone with whom to negotiate about peace," Rusk told reporters as he arrived to participate in the inauguration of a new Foreign Relations Building.

He repeated earlier statements that he is ready to meet anytime, any place for peace talks.

Transferred to Camden

Three members of a New Jersey family, who were injured in an accident on the State Thruway on Aug. 29, were transferred today from Kingston Hospital to a hospital at Camden, N. J., by Doctor's Ambulance. They were the Rev. Aldo Maselli, 43, of 304 Chestnut Avenue, Woodlynne, N. J.; his wife, F. Clair Maselli, and their son, Ralph. Four other children were injured in the mishap, but were released from the hospital after treatment. The Maselli car was traveling along the Thruway when a tire blew out causing the vehicle to go out of control and overturn.

Lefkowitz Tour Hours Announced

Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz will address the luncheon meeting of the local business groups and Chamber of Commerce here at 12:30 p. m., Monday, according to a time schedule listed in a telegram from Washington officials received by The Freeman. Times for the other three Kingston visits include a press conference in the Gov. Clinton Hotel at 1:30 p. m.; an appearance at the opening of the 36 John Street GOP Store Front Headquarters at 2:30 p. m. and a visit to the Kingston Plaza Shopping Center at 3 p. m.

The visits are part of the attorney general's one-day visit to Kingston. The remainder of the day's schedule will include a talk before the New York State Council of Retail Merchants at Kiamasha Lake and attendance of an award presentation to Senator Frank E. Van Lare by the Wholesale Beer Distributors Association in South Fallsburg prior to his Kingston stop. Later in the day Lefkowitz will attend a Humanitarian Award dinner in honor of Abraham D. Beame at the Americana Hotel in New York City.

U.S. Bombers . . .

claimed success against North Vietnamese positions and storage areas in the six-mile wide demilitarized zone separating North and South Viet Nam. They reported triggering 10 secondary explosions and 13 fires in the zone, indicating hits on fuel and ammunition dumps.

Pilots also reported damaging or destroying 16 bridges, six anti-aircraft gun sites, two missile sites and 18 trucks.

In South Viet Nam just below the demilitarized zone, U.S. Marines of the 4th Regiment reported killing 10 North Vietnamese Friday in a 45-minute fight 19 miles northwest of Dong Ha. This was the only contact in the two-month-old Operation Prairie in which the Marines have been tracking down the rebuilt 324B North Vietnamese Division. Since Aug. 3, the Marines reported killing 943 North Vietnamese, the equivalent of nearly two battalions. Marine casualties for the operation are termed moderate, with some Leatherneck units hard hit.

Further south, a unit of the U.S. 1st Airborne Cavalry Division reported killing 17 Communist troops in two separate engagements Friday. The clash of the division's Operation Thayer, took place 28 miles northwest of Qui Nhon near the central coast.

Also in the central coastal area, two U.S. Air Force B57 Canberra bombers struck at Viet Cong troop concentrations 13 miles northwest of Quang Ngai. A U.S. spokesman said at least 53 enemy troops were killed. The Canberras staged a surprise raid on 200 to 300 Viet Cong concentrated at a base camp.

In air action over South Viet Nam Friday, U.S. pilots flew 410 sorties and reported destroying or damaging 313 enemy huts, trenches, and other fortified positions.

Inflation Bill . . .

grams and balance the budget. The House adopted one amendment. It would allow equipment for batemation of air and water pollution to continue to enjoy the 7 per cent tax credit.

The Ways and Means Committee had written in earlier a provision allowing the credit to continue on the first $15,000 of investment. This would minimize the bill's effect on many farmers and operators of small businesses.

The committee had rejected pleas for exemption or special treatment of railroads, airlines and other businesses, but spokesmen for various interests are expected to urge their points of view on the Senate Finance Committee next week.

The committee opens hearings on the bill Monday. Official witnesses will be heard first, beginning with Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler.

L.I. Man Is Killed
FRANKLIN SQUARE, N. Y. (AP) — Joseph Fasano, 42, of this Long Island community, was injured fatally when struck by a car at 1:15 a. m. today. He lived at 101 Lincoln Road.

Miss Bernstein, an art student who transferred to ASU this year from Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., was stabbed to death Sept. 21 outside a downtown hotel.

Until Mumbaugh's arrest Thursday night, police had insisted there were no leads in the slaying and they have been reluctant to discuss anything about the case since.

Mumbaugh had reported finding Miss Bernstein's body. He ran two blocks from the hotel to police headquarters to alert police.

Three Are Hurt In City Mishaps; One Is Charged

A 26-year-old New Paltz man was cited on two charges early today after his 1965 convertible was involved in a collision at Albany and Manor Avenues with a sedan operated by Town of Ulster Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz, 48, of 35 Vincent Street.

The supervisor was on his way to Kingston to see his son who had been involved in an earlier mishap in front of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

According to a report of Officers George Dougherty and James Scott, Supervisor Musialkiewicz suffered injuries to the left shoulder and hip. He was treated at Kingston Hospital.

Police said the other car was driven by John J. McGrath Jr., 26, of 261 River Road, New Paltz, who sustained injuries to the neck. He was taken to Benedictine Hospital for treatment. The accident occurred at 3 a. m. McGrath was cited by police for driving a motor car while intoxicated and having no registration. The cases are scheduled in City Court on Oct. 4.

Supervisor Musialkiewicz's son, Thaddeus, 18, was driving in front of the Governor Clinton Hotel at midnight when his car hit Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn, of 286 Manor Avenue, who escaped with minor injuries. He was in his office today. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fataum's Ambulance and later released.

Inez Lashes . . .

of the eye 200 miles southeast of Havana and 350 miles south of Miami. Inez was howling toward the west-northwest at 12 miles an hour.

If continued, this course would bring the storm back ashore in western Cuba late today or tonight.

Small craft owners in the lower Florida Keys were warned to remain in port.

"If she regains her strength and moves back over Cuba," said forecaster Paul Moore, "she could reach the Florida Straits by tonight."

The straits, separating Cuba from Florida, is the unpredictable body of water used as an escape route by refugees fleeing Castro communism in small boats.

Inez had been twice weakened in titanic collisions with the mountains of Hispaniola and again with the towering peaks of Oriente Province — but back over the water she gained new fury rapidly.

Hundreds Hurt

Hundreds were injured, thousands homeless, and vast crop acreages laid waste in the storm's raging journey through the Caribbean from the French island of Guadeloupe to Cuba. It was feared that many bodies lie in Haiti, where Inez hurled the full force of her wind and rain down a heavily populated valley enclosed by tall mountains.

Death and damage tolls climbed continuously as rescue teams reached stricken areas.

Only one death was officially reported in Cuba, where Castro took personal charge of the evacuation of 123,000 persons from low-lying areas of the southeastern coast. Roaring tides had come ashore there.

Cuba is slow to report its storm deaths. After Hurricane Flora killed more than 2,000 residents in 1963, Castro waited several days to disclose it in a speech to his people.

In 12 hours over the mountains of Oriente, the top winds slammed around the center of Inez dropped to 75 miles an hour. But they built back up quickly to 100 over the Caribbean. At one time, Inez packed a 175-mile an hour punch.

Top winds of 138 miles an hour lashed the town of Guanatanamo Friday, destroying a number of homes. Heavy damage also was reported at the nearby U.S. Navy base although none of the base's 9,000 residents was reported seriously injured.

Havana radio said Inez' devastating winds flattened Oriente Province's precious sugar crop but did not necessarily ruin the crop. Earlier, her winds and torrential rains wiped out the cotton crop on the Barahona peninsula of the Dominican Republic.

Civil defense authorities in the Dominican Republic placed the toll at 67 dead and 225 missing, with more than 1,000 homes destroyed. Unofficial sources listed more than 100 dead, 500 injured and some 5,000 left homeless.

In the primitive island of Haiti, a storm-oriented communications shutdown may have hidden the worst tragedy of all. Unofficial sources who flew over the island estimated at least 50 persons were killed and hundreds were injured.

Raps Infirmary

tion or possibly is so inept as to misunderstand the financial information which he keeps as a closely guarded secret."

Blue's letter continues: "Since we all deal with the elderly ill and are regulated by a state agency with measurable requirements, even secret information can be analyzed. 'If we start with Mr. Fitzsimmons' hypothetical, $11.12 figure for care in the County Infirmary, we must first assess a charge for nursing."

2 1/2 Hours Required
"State requirements are for an average of 2 1/2 hours of nursing care for each patient day. This is further broken down to be interpreted as one nursing hour for an ambulatory patient who performs self care, two hours for a patient requiring ambulation assistance or who uses a wheel chair and four hours for a patient confined to bed or in a bed-chair condition."

"If we are to believe his often repeated claim that only the sickest of the patients are cared for in the county facility we must then charge at the four-hour level of care. The average rate for the care (one RN or Licensed Practical Nurse to three aides) is $2.11 per hour which would total $8.44. The sum remaining is $2.68."

"The state informs us that it is possible to feed a patient for 70 cents per day for raw food. Since realistically the figure is more one dollar minimally and an additional cost of 80 cents for preparation is proper, we must now deduct $1.80. This now leaves 88 cents."

"Are we to believe now that Mr. Fitzsimmons is able to provide his services as an administrator, provide medical care and medicines, provide all necessary supplies, provide heat and light, maintenance and necessary cleanliness, repairs to his buildings, keep necessary records, provide meals for employees, retirement benefits insurance for employees and provide other needs for his patients for 88 cents?"

Questions Care
"Since this approach to analysis produces an unacceptable conclusion, the only alternate conclusion we can make is that inadequate care is provided. There is statistical evidence that this is a proper assumption."

"In a stable group of patients in this category, some 20-25 per cent will require feeding by tube because of swallowing difficulties. Mr. Fitzsimmons has no tube feeders — we can only assume that they have died of starvation and therefore do not exist in his statistics."

"In the same group some 50 per cent will have urinary incontinence with retention of a quantity of urine in a bladder which cannot empty itself. This retained urine is a fertile pool for infection which ascends the upper urinary tract and usually terminates fatally. These patients also do not appear in his statistics."

"The staff with the knowledge and the conscience to carry out this sort of care is so unusual that many physicians fear to order the use of this last item, lest its misuse be even more rapidly destructive than the original problem."

Can Name More
"I have only named and proved to areas in which shoddy care is probable. I could name more, many more."

"Mr. Fitzsimmons seemed very anguished by the $35 hospital rate charged. He did not mention that though the hospital is in a dire financial straits, the diagnosis and the outlining of the course of treatment for an acute illness, it has unconscionably been used as a dumping ground for problem patients that the infirmary does not want and for patients requiring much more care than Nurse Homes are currently reimbursed for. In fact, he did not mention that the 90 patients in Nursing Homes that he now had available for this imaginary $11.12 care are currently being paid for at the rate of $6.08 per day and have to be subsidized by the owners working double shifts and donating the use of the property that they own."

"This is an unconscionable situation in which promises of relief are offered to people who have been selfless in their efforts to provide a vital need and instead are making scapegoats at the political altar. Now we have threat and untruth, to muddy the waters rather than promises kept."

Blue's letter concluded: "The concept that people are due proper care, if needed, is paramount. The continuance and enlargement of an abomination is not to be countenanced, no matter how many political sacred calves must be sacrificed."

House Gives Okay Udall Stresses
On Anti-Pollution
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed 312 to 0 and sent to the Senate legislation authorizing a four-year $2.3 billion program to help cities and states step up the fight against pollution in rivers, lakes and other public waters.

Earlier this session, the Senate voted a $6 billion anti-pollution program spread over six years. A program somewhere between the two figures is expected to be approved later as a compromise.

The House measure would set at $300 million for fiscal 1968 the federal funds for pollution control, $400 million for 1970 and $550 million for 1971. The authorization for fiscal 1967, which ends next June 30, is $150 million.

The bill also would raise the federal contribution from 30 per cent to 40 per cent of project cost if states match the 30 per cent contribution by municipalities.

And it would provide incentive for the development of basin plans for pollution control by raising the federal grant to 50 per cent of the cost of projects which are part of basin plans. States and municipalities each would put up 25 per cent of the cost of such projects.

Exiles Dismay

the bombs exploded, and it fell about 1,500 feet from its apparent target, an electric power plant under construction, the broadcast said. It blamed "U.S. imperialism" for the new attack.

Exiles Proclaim Victory

Spokesmen for two exile groups in Miami said 1,200 pounds of explosives were dumped on sugar warehouses, oil tanks, a naval base and a power plant during the raid. They said caused considerable damage. One exile leader said the plane involved left from a base outside the United States and returned there safely.

In Washington, a State Department official repeated a statement made earlier.

"Our strong opposition to this kind of indiscriminate, irresponsible activity has been made repeatedly clear," the same policy, he added, applies to the Sept. 22 explosion of a home-made bomb which shattered windows in the Cuban Embassy in Ottawa. An exile group in Miami also claimed responsibility for this incident.

Despite State Department objections, the exiles now are passing the word that such raids on the island will be stepped up. The exiles contend even if the attacks are of no great military value, they serve to tell anti-Castro elements within Cuba that the exiles are doing what they can to oust the regime.

the mass rally in Peking highlighted the celebrations. For the first time since 1959 contingents of the army took part in the parade through the square.

The New China News Agency said about one million young Red Guards poured into the square, which was decorated with red banners, slogans and portraits of Mao. The broadcast described the rally as the "seeing scene of revolution."

Despite Red Guard requests that Mao address the crowd, the 72-year-old leader remained silent.

No chiefs of state or top foreign government leaders were on the rostrum and official greetings sent from other Communist countries were cool.

The Soviet Union pledged unity and friendship with the Chinese people but did not mention the Chinese leaders. Yugoslav President Tito, in a message described in Belgrade as the coldest and most impersonal he has ever sent to another head of state, congratulated Chinese President Liu Shao-chi and wished "welfare to the Chinese people."

Tours Kingston Area

From High Falls, the visiting celebrity and the congressman headed for Kingston, lunch at the hotel and a look at the 18th century buildings of Rondout and the Stockade section of the city.

Switching from an earlier schedule which had called for a tour of Lindenwald in Kinderhook by Secretary Udall, the group traveled instead to the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center in New Paltz in the afternoon. Later, at Red Hook, the Secretary spoke to students at Red Hook Junior-Senior High School.

Udall's visit to the Mid-Hudson-Stockade Museum at New Paltz was cause for much celebration by executive director George Wislocki and his staff. There he saw the federally founded Project PINE (Projects in Imaginative Nature Education) in action. Wislocki, as administrator of this project, is presently engaged in launching an innovative program in in-school conservation education for the 193,000 school children in the Mid-Hudson region. Federal funds were granted last June for this dynamic program of nature education and, at approximately the same time, the Lake Mohonk Gatehouse (visited by Udall) and 125 acres of land at New Paltz were made available to the museum as a nature center for use in the project.

Observes Kindergarten
Arriving at the museum by helicopter, as he had at High Falls, Secretary Udall joined a group of 21 kindergarten children from the New Paltz College Campus School as they participated in a field study in nature education. He noted the enthusiasm of the class for the wonders of nature and the importance of its preservation; toured the site of the center and viewed the tinge-with-early autumn countryside from the tower of the Memorial Gatehouse, the future home of the museum's administrative offices.

Also on hand to greet Udall, in addition to Wislocki, were: William van Benschoten, chairman of the board of trustees of the museum; Dr. Raymond Kenyon, director of the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center; Henry Hopper, district superintendent of the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services; George Sullivan, president of the Mid-Hudson School Study Council; George Fernandez, a trustee of the museum; George Bond, principal of the New Paltz College Campus School, whose children were attending the workshop; and a representative of the Mohonk Trust, Mrs. Daniel Smiley.

Sorosis Hears Musical Program

One of the highlights of the year in Sorosis is the annual musical program given by the talented musicians in its membership. "Franz Schubert: The Man and His Music" was presented by Miss Helen Turner on Sept. 26 in the home of Mrs. James Shelhorse in Hurley.

Schubert's genius, Miss Turner said, was recognized at a very early age. He was accepted at the Imperial School in Vienna at the age of eleven. Before he was 20, he had composed over 500 songs. He but had to read a poem and the music came to him. Although his music is now proclaimed as the most beautiful ever written, only a few intimates heard it during his lifetime. Schubert lacked the ability to promote or sell his work. He never heard his C Major Symphony played. Beethoven was his idol and when Schubert knew he was dying, he asked to be buried beside him. Mrs. William Rylance played "Rosamunde Impromptu" and the piano accompaniment as Mrs. William Roosa, a guest, sang "To Music," "Laughing and Crying," and "Gretchen at the Spinning Wheel" examples of three forms of song used by Schubert: ode, question and answer, and atmospheric respectively.

Following devotions led by Miss Harriet Church, Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Sr. presided at a short business meeting.

The hostess served tea during the social hour.

Mrs. Herbert Darrow is in charge of the program on "Antique China" to be given at the next meeting on Oct. 10 in the home of Miss Harriet Church in High Falls.

Performing Sunday In Outdoor Concert

Karen Ranung and John Cohen, two noted performers in the folk medium, will combine their talents with Pete Seeger, world famous American folk singer, in an outdoor concert to be held in Garrison, N. Y. at the junction of Routes 9D and 403, six miles north of the Bear Mountain Bridge, on Sunday, Oct. 2 at 2 p. m.

The concert will be held in an open field, overlooking the Highlands of the Hudson. No seating arrangements are planned for this informal entertainment. Spectators are advised to bring their own blankets or folding chairs, and in case of rain, the concert will be held on Sunday, October 9th.

Karen Ranung, noted soprano, has been trained as a classical musician. However, she has become vitally interested in the American folk heritage. Because of this interest she has learned to play the dulcimer and has become a serious collector of American mountain ballads. Her performances of these songs are considered by many to be of the purest folk tradition, blended magnificently with the classic artistry of her voice. She has appeared on the concert stage in specifically designed "in school" concerts for children and is a faculty member of the music department at Vassar College. Her current prime interest is an old stone Huguenot house, directly across the Hudson from the Vanderbilt Mansion, which she and her husband are planning to restore.

John Cohen's considerable contributions to the field of folk music are of particular note. His professional career began in 1958 when he, Mike Seeger and Tom Paley organized "The New Lost City Ramblers," a pioneer group in the rediscovery of old time string band music. The combined sound of country fiddle, 5-string banjo, autoharp, and John's unique interpretation of traditional "mountain music" guitar playing revolutionized the country music sound as known in the United States. John, as a member of "The New Lost City Ramblers," has appeared in numerous concerts and folk festivals, such as the New-

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Oct. 1, the 274th day of 1966. There are 91 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, the Medal of Merit was presented to composer Irving Berlin for creating and producing the musical revue "This is the Army."

On this date: In 1781, American naval officer James Lawrence was born. Lawrence, commanding the ship "Chesapeake" was mortally wounded in battle. His dying words: "Don't give up the ship." became the battle cry of the nation.

In 1908, the first Model T Ford was made.
In 1946, 19 ranking Nazi leaders were found guilty as war criminals and were sentenced to death. These included Hermann Goering, who killed himself before he could be executed.

Ten years ago — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer called for what he termed a revitalization of the seven-nation Western European Union and the revamping of it into a confederation so that, in his words: "Europe still remains of some importance in the world."

Five years ago — New York Yankee baseball star Roger Maris became the first major league player in history to hit more than 60 home runs in a season. The 27-year-old outfielder's 61st homer was hit at Yankee Stadium during the New York team's final game of the regular season.

One year ago — Secretary of State Dean Rusk would up a series of talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko without reaching any specific agreement on any of the subjects touched upon.

Phillies Keep NL Race Alive

Top Dodgers, 5-3, As Bucs, Giants Are Rained Out

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Anybody up there like Harry? Poor Harry Walker, who was up with the sun, out at Forbes Field before the groundskeepers, on the golf course to keep his mind off his troubles, then back at the ballpark to play a little do-or-die with the Giants.

But whatever fates are charged with protecting the fortunes of the Los Angeles Dodgers did their work well Friday. The heavens opened up on Harry and the Pirates, who now must play a doubleheader with the Giants today, though even that is as far from certain. There is an 80 per cent chance of rain. Harry is not amused.

"You're always better off playing when you're scheduled," he said. "You don't want a doubleheader if you can avoid them. That's two times you have to gear yourself up. It throws the pressure on you."

Must Win Three
It does indeed. The Pirates have to win three games from the Giants and hope like mad the Phillies knock off the Dodgers a couple more times.

Philadelphia beat Los Angeles 5-3 Friday, leaving the Dodgers' magic number at two.

Any combination of Dodger victories and Pirate losses totaling two eliminates Pittsburgh.

If the Dodgers lose their two remaining games to the Phils and if the Giants sweep three from Pittsburgh and another from Cincinnati on Monday, then the Giants and Dodgers will be in a playoff.

The Dodgers were very much in the game Friday until Bill White hit a three-run homer in the seventh inning. They came back with two in the ninth, but Chris Short, who allowed just seven hits in getting his 19th victory got them out before any more damage was done.

The clubs go at it again today unless the rain heads east from Pittsburgh, as it was threatening to do. At last calculation, there was a 70 per cent chance of rain in Philadelphia today.

In other National League games Friday, New York beat Houston 1-0 and St. Louis shut out Chicago 2-0.

White's homer came off reliever Ron Perranoski, who said he didn't get the ball in tight enough. It went high over the right-field wall.

Eject Gene Mauch
Phillie Manager Gene Mauch was tossed out of the game when he complained to umpire Shag Crawford that the Phils were 0 for 4 on umpires' decisions.

"You're 0 for 5," said Crawford, giving Gene the thumb.

Larry Dierker must be wondering right along with Harry Walker what it's all about, after losing a perfect game and then the ball game in the ninth inning.

After Dierker retired 24 men in a row, Ed Bressoud doubled just out of the reach of Lee Maye in left leading off the ninth, went to third on a wild pitch and then scored on Ron Hunt's soft liner just past Joe Morgan at second.

Dick Hughes pitched a three-hitter and Ed Spezio clubbed a three-run homer in the St. Louis victory. Lou Brock added to his league-leading stolen base total with his 74th.

Haas Keeps Lead In Seniors Open
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Freddie Haas continued Friday to cling to a one-stroke lead at the halfway mark of the $70,000 U.S. National Seniors Golf Open.

Haas, Metairie, La., shot a par-70 over 6,647-yard Tropicana Country Club course for a two-day total of 137. Mike DeMassey, Stockton, Calif., also matched par and stayed a stroke back at 138.

The day's hot rounds were by former Western Open winner Marty Furgol, who tied the course record of 65, and defending champion Chandler Harper, Sid Harman and Labron Harris, each with a 66.

Furgol birdied five out of six holes on the back nine. He came off the back side with a course record 30 and a two-day score of 140.

In 9th Inning

Dierker Loses Perfect Game, No-Hitter and 1-0 Decision

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Dierker goes back to school Monday...and it won't be soon enough for the Houston Astros' hard-luck pitching prodigy.

The baby-faced right-hander, nine days past his 20th birthday, lost his bid for a perfect game—and the only no-hitter of the National League season—in the ninth inning Friday night and wound up a 1-0 loser to the New York Mets.

Dierker retired the first 24 batters before Ed Bressoud, leading off the ninth, hit a sinking liner that barely eluded left-fielder Lee Maye's lunge and went for a double.

Bressoud took third on a wild pitch and scored the winning run when pinch hitter Ron Hunt singled off second baseman Joe Morgan's glove.

"If it had to happen, I'm kind of glad it happened tonight—instead of earlier in the year," Dierker said in the hushed Astro clubhouse. "The season's over for me. I'm flying home to Los Angeles Sunday and I'll enroll at the University of California in Santa Barbara on Monday."

"I wouldn't want to carry this around with me during a season," winning pitcher Jack Fisher giving up six hits, sympathized with Dierker, who finished his second major league season with a 10-8 record.

"All I can say is I feel sorry for Dierker," Fisher said. "He really pitched great."

Asked about the tension that accompanies every no-hit bid, Dierker replied: "It was growing on me all right. Nobody said a word in the dugout, but the only thing that might have relieved the pressure was a run—and I didn't get one."

"It's tough enough with a lead, but it's tougher in this kind of a game. Even if you get them out (in the ninth), you know you still have to keep going."

The 6-foot-4 Californian said he knew he was in trouble when the ball left Bressoud's bat in the ninth. "It was a fast ball, I knew it was hit hard, but I thought he (Maye) might have a shot at it."

"It appeared to me the ball hit Maye's back leg," Bressoud said after watching a television playback of his hit.

After Bressoud moved up on the wild pitch, Houston Manager Grady Hatton waived his infielders in to set up a play at the plate. But Hunt's soft liner up the middle glanced off Morgan's glove for the deciding hit.

Small Game Hunting Season Commences Monday in State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Hunters were expected to be busy this weekend, cleaning their rifles and shotguns and preparing other gear for Monday's opening of the small game season in New York State.

In the eastern half of the state, with the exception of Long Island, Monday will open the season on squirrel, ruffed grouse, woodcock, pheasant, raccoon and cottontail rabbit.

On Long Island the season opens Nov. 1 for all game except woodcock and Wilson's snipe, which can be taken beginning Monday.

In Western New York, hunters can shoot at all small game except pheasant and cottontails, for which they'll have to wait until Oct. 17.

The upper season ends Dec. 31, for squirrel, Jan. 31 for ruffed grouse, Feb. 23, 1967 for cottontail rabbit, and Nov. 21 for woodcock and Wilson's snipe.

For raccoons, the season ends Feb. 28 next year in the eastern region and March 18 in the western section, and for pheasant, Nov. 12 in the east and Nov. 5 in the west.

On Long Island, the season ends Dec. 31 for squirrel, ruffed grouse, pheasant and quail. Elsewhere, quail can be shot only in Orange, Putnam and Westchester counties. The season runs from Monday to Oct. 20.

Hicki Hi Captures Feature at Yonkers
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hicki Hi won the $18,783 New York Sire Stakes for 4-year-old trotters by a neck Friday night at Yonkers Raceway, going the distance in 2:08 1/5 and paying $3.80.

The fifth victory of the season raised Hicki Hi's total earnings for the year to $31,653. Heather C. placed. Shooter showed.

Other featured races:
At Saratoga, Colonial Prince won the $15,000 trot over 3-5. Dude was second. Diller Dell was third.

At Batavia, Lofly Hanover took the $4,500 trot over Katy Lou and Our Katie. The victor was clocked in 2:05 3/5 and paid $24.

In the Saratoga meet, Billy Arthur reined four horses to victory, equalling a feat he had accomplished last July.

Monday also will mark open season on wild turkey in Delaware, Greene, Otsego and Schoharie counties.

A spokesman for the State Conservation Department said that more than 500 permits have been issued for the season, which ends Oct. 9.

In addition, he said six turkeys in four-county area have been fitted with battery-powered radio transmitters to help conservation workers study the birds' range and habits.

There will be a $10 reward for the return of the transmitter to the Conservation Department.

Turkey hunting will be permitted from Nov. 7 through Nov. 19 in Allegany, Chautauq, Cattaraugus, Steuben and Chemung counties.

The season for snowshoe rabbit varies widely from county to county and interested hunters should contact the nearest office of the Conservation Department for specific dates.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Jack Christiansen of the Los Angeles 49ers, a man of few words and one who likes to leave the scene of football accidents as soon as possible, remains in character.

After watching the 49ers take a 34-3 whipping Friday night from the Los Angeles Rams, Christiansen made this succinct observation:

"I have just one thing to say. We stunk the joint out from start to finish. And that's it."

With that, the 49ers' boss flipped his overcoat over his shoulder and marched out of the dressing room in Los Angeles' Memorial Coliseum.

The game between the two National Football League California teams, uneereled before 45,642, was a prelude to resumption of the NFL action Sunday.

The champion Green Bay Packers, seeking their fourth straight triumph, entertain Detroit in a Western Division battle, and St. Louis, the Eastern loop leader, also unbeaten in three, is at Philadelphia.

Other games in the NFL: Dallas at Atlanta, Cleveland at New York, Chicago at Minnesota and Pittsburgh at Washington.

In the AFL Sunday, Kansas City plays Buffalo, Houston is at Denver and Miami meets San Diego.

The Rams are now 3-1-0 in the standings, alone at least until Sunday in second place in the West.

The winless 49ers, 0-2-1, were the underdogs at Los Angeles and fell back 10-0 in the first quarter and trailed 20-3 at halftime.

Intercept Four Passes
The brutal Ram defense gave Sam Davis, a cornerback, John Brodie, a bad night. It intercepted four Brodie throws and turned three of them into two field goals and a touchdown.

"We just got our pants kicked," said Brodie, who really didn't say pants. "Did you see anything good we did down there?"

"The Ram defense is really improved and as for me, things generally don't go too well for me in Los Angeles."

Ram Coach George Allen, while praising his team for a "40-man win," said of the 49ers: "I still think the 49ers are a good football team and will win their share of games."

The Rams' scooter Dick Bass scored three touchdowns and broke a Ram career rushing record and watched as Bass yards in his seventh year. The old mark was 3,493.

Deacon Dan Towler, now the Rev. Daniel L. Towler, held the record and watched as Bass erased it.

The Packers and the Lions split their games last season and the Detroit defense always seems to stiffen to the Green Bay challenge.

St. Louis had trouble with the Eagles when the teams opened the NFL season three weeks ago. Only a field goal by Jim Bakken with five seconds left kept the Cards the game.

Dallas looks for its third straight triumph with Don Meredith seeking to add to the seven touchdown passes he has thrown in the team's first two games. Atlanta is hunting for its first victory in three starts.

Cleveland, an early season favorite in the east, will try to even its record at 2-2 at New York's expense in the Giants' home opener. The winless Giants have surrendered 121 points in three games, most of any team in the league.

Chicago and Minnesota are still looking for that first victory. The Vikings bought the league-leading ground gainer in Bill Brown and the Bears will try to get Gale Sayers loose for long gainers.

Pittsburgh and Washington, with one triumph apiece, play their second game in two weeks. Last week's contest was won by the Redskins, 33-27, as Sonny Jurgensen completed 20 of 33 passes.

Host Buffalo Bills
Kansas City, co-leader in the AFL's Western Division with a 3-0 record, meets the improving Buffalo Bills in the Chiefs' home opener. Buffalo will seek revenge for a 32-20 pasting suffered to Kansas City early in September.

Eastern Division-leading New York plays Boston, which gave Kansas City some trouble last week. The Jets top the league in five of the six major offensive and defensive areas, but Boston back Jim Nance leads the league in rushing.

Houston, which has lost two after winning a pair, meets winless Denver in its second game under new Coach Ray Malavasi. Miami, 0-3, meets San Diego, 3-0 on the Chargers' home ground. San Diego beat the fledgling Dolphins 38-10 in an exhibition game.

Yonkers to Drop Twin on Monday

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — The management of Yonkers Raceway, a harness racing track, announced Friday night the twin double form of betting would be dropped effective Monday, Oct. 3.

A statement said the board of directors had voted unanimously to abolish the TD because an "undesirable element" had become involved.

This twin double, in which the better tries to couple four consecutive winners, started at Yonkers Aug. 27, 1963. On Oct. 21, 1964, the second highest TD on record, $171,084, came in there.

The highest TD on record, $172,728, was recorded at Roosevelt Raceway in Westbury, N.Y., on Sept. 10, 1964.

Finger Lakes Winner
CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (AP) — Jus Liabe, an 8-year-old gelding, took an early lead and coasted to a five-length victory Friday in the $1,200 feature at Finger Lakes Race Track.

Ned's Mike finished second and Randan third.

Jus Liabe, ridden by Frank Verardi, covered the mile in 1:43. He returned $7.20, $4.40 and $3.

The daily double combination of No. 4 and No. 8 returned $139.60.

A total of 2,189 persons wagered $144,589.

Yanks Bow, Will End In 10th Slot

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

April showers bring May flowers, but September showers helped bring last place for the New York Yankees.

Not that the Yankees didn't earn the spot all by themselves. It's just that they got an assist from the rain.

The Chicago White Sox made sure the Yankees would finish in the American League cellar for only the third time in their 64-year history by edging the one-time perennial champs 6-5 in 11 innings Friday night.

The finish actually is the lowest the Yankees ever have had. When they finished in the cellar in 1908 and 1912 there were only eight teams in the league. Now there are 10.

The once mighty Bombers would have had a chance to finish as high as seventh if it hadn't been for the rain that fell earlier in the week. The rain in question fell in Washington last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and wiped out a three-game series between New York and the Senators.

Since the rain ended the season for eighth-place Washington and ninth-place Boston ran out of games, the Yankees went into the series at Chicago needing a three-game sweep to avert a 10th-place ending.

Three victories would have boosted them into an eighth-place tie with the Senators and would have dropped the Red Sox into the cellar.

When Roger Maris hit a two-run homer in the top of the ninth inning Friday night, the Yankees thought they had reduced their magic number to two.

But Smoky Burgess singled home a run in the bottom of the ninth and John Romano singled one across in the 11th, and the Yankee magic went poof.

Burgess' run-scoring single in the ninth was the 136th pinch hit of his career and extended his record. Romano's two-out single two innings later brought Mel Stottlemyre his 20th loss against 12 victories. He was 20-9 last year.

Minnesota pulled into a second-place tie with Detroit with the double victory over the champion Orioles. The Twins roughed up one of Baltimore's top pitchers in each game.

Harmon Killebrew, Rich Rollins and Bob Allison homered off Dave McNally in the opener, and Killebrew and Don Mincher connected against Jim Palmer in the nightcap.

Kansas City downed Detroit with a three-run rally in the eighth inning, the last two runs coming on Dick Green's homer, Jim Gosger and Tim Lorton connected earlier for the Athletics.

Dean Chance pitched a two-hitter for only his second shut-out of the season. He gained the victory, his 12th against 17 defeats, on Jose Cardenal's two-run single in the third inning.

Beats Hill's Mark
The feat eclipsed the old mark of 1:11.9 and 115.16 m.p.h., set in last year's practice run by England's Graham Hill in a BRM.

A close second in the trials was John Surtees, who piloted his Cooper-Meserati over the hilly course in 1:08.71 at 120.47 m.p.h.

The rest of the top eight drivers were over the one and average speed of 100 m.p.h.

RFK to Campaign With O'Connor On Upstate Tour

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Frank D. O'Connor enlisted the electoral glamor of U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy today on an Upstate campaign swing opening with the state's minimum wage beyond $1.50 an hour.

Kennedy, who usually draws large and lively crowds, agreed to accompany O'Connor on visits to Rome, Glens Falls and Troy in an effort to perk up the Democratic nominee's campaign for governor.

Traveling by chartered plane, O'Connor scheduled speeches in Albany and Yonkers before rendezvousing with Kennedy at the Oneida County airport.

Labor Meeting
The Albany engagement was a conference of the State Council of Machinery, an AFL-CIO labor organization.

In a speech prepared for the meeting, O'Connor criticized Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for last year's veto of two Democratic bills that would have raised the minimum wage in New York State from $1.25 to $1.50 an hour.

After some sparring with the Legislature this year, Rockefeller signed legislation that will raise the minimum to $1.50 on Jan. 1, 1967. An estimated 600,000 workers will benefit.

O'Connor said delay in raising the minimum had "prolonged and deepened the misery" of low-paid workers.

Raise Minimum Wage
"Next year," he continued, "we will explore energetically ways to raise the minimum above $1.50 and spread its coverage in the state to those who can earn with their labor."

State law exempts a wide variety of workers from the minimum wage requirement. The minimum need not be paid to domestic or farm workers, apprentices, students holding part-time jobs, persons who depend largely on tips or employees of religious, charitable or educational institutions.

O'Connor did not specify to what level he would seek to raise the minimum of what categories of workers he would bring into coverage.

In a more generalized attack on Rockefeller's labor record, O'Connor said that the Republican governor had been "no friend to the working man or his family" and that he had "coddled business while showing a callous indifference to the people."

Hits Rocky
Almost from the moment that Rockefeller took office in 1959, O'Connor said, the governor and other Republicans "have been shifting the tax burden from those who can afford to pay to those who can least afford to pay."

O'Connor's attack was an attempt to counter the effect of recent labor union endorsements of Rockefeller. Some have cited Rockefeller's approval of the $1.50 wage bill among reasons for backing him.

After the Albany appearance, O'Connor's schedule took him to Yonkers to help open a campaign headquarters for U.S. Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, a freshman Democrat seeking reelection.

Bobby in Syracuse
Kennedy was headed for Syracuse to lend similar support to another first-term congressman, James M. Hanley, before joining O'Connor.

Kennedy was called into the gubernatorial campaign after a two-day Upstate tour by O'Connor earlier this week stirred little voter interest. Campaign crowds ranged from small to virtually nonexistent.

Although Kennedy had not planned to enter the O'Connor campaign until late October—because of commitments in other states—he agreed to take a hand early.

Four Hurt in Two Kingston Crashes

At 4:55 p. m., cars driven by Donald S. Williams, 25, of Burger Road, Rhinebeck, and Walter Vanderbent, 71, of Star Route, Shokan, collided at the intersection of Washington and Hurley Avenues.

Officers Harry Short and George Deyo reported an unidentified vehicle stopped abruptly and a chain reaction collision resulted.

Williams, driving a 1964 sedan, received a neck injury. Brenda Williams, 23, of the Rhinebeck address, sustained possible neck and head injuries.

Cars driven by Henry T. Terpening, 63, of 54 Montrose Avenue, and Matthew Weishaup Jr., 17, of 274 North Manor Avenue, were involved in a collision at 6:40 p. m. at Broadway and Field Court.

Terpening and a passenger, Laura M. Terpening, 64, sustained possible neck injuries. They were treated by a physician according to a report of officers Otto Short and George Barringer.

First escalator in public use was introduced at the Paris Exposition in 1900.

Retiring Phone Firm Employee Feted at LeHerbs

William Porter of 167 Doris Street, Port Ewen, was the guest of honor at a luncheon at LeHerbs Friday afternoon. The occasion marked Porter's retirement from the Long Line Division of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company after more than 37 years of service.

Former Kingston Mayor, John Schwenk, a former associate of Porter's, presented the guest of honor with a lifetime membership in the Telephone Pioneers Club of America. The club is made up of telephone employees with more than 21 years service in the field.

Porter started his career with the Long Lines Division in 1929 in Albany. He transferred to Newark, N. J., in 1942 and has been at the Kingston Office at 11 West O'Reilly Street since 1956.

Can't Afford to Fight

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Sant Fateh Singh, a leader of India's bearded Sikhs, called on the Indian government to solve its border problems with Pakistan and Communist China. Singh said India can not afford the tremendous cost of defense preparedness.

Three Are Injured In Rt. 32 Mishap

Three persons in one Rhinebeck family were injured early Friday evening in an accident on Route 32, just east of the 9W intersection, in the Town of Ulster.

State Police at the Lake Katrine barracks identified those involved as:

Harry Pfum, 46, driver of the car and a resident of 9 Cramer Road, Rhinebeck.

Patricia Pfum, 44, owner of the car and wife of the driver, same address.

Joanne Pfum, 15, their daughter, same address.

The accident occurred at 7:30 p. m. Friday as the car in which the three were riding was proceeding south. The driver turned the vehicle to the right to avoid hitting a dog on the highway, lost control and swerved to the left on the pebbled shoulder of the road. The automobile skidded sideways, left the road and hit the end of a guard rail, then proceeded along the roadway.

The injured driver was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance, where he was reported to be suffering from abrasions of the face and skull, lacerations of the right leg and a foreign object in the eye.

Mrs. Pfum, who was thrown from the car, according to investigating Trooper James Fitzgerald, suffered head injuries, fractures of facial bones, multiple lacerations of the face and contusions of the chest. She was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance.

The Pfum's teenage daughter, Joanne, suffered only slight bruises on her right forearm; was also taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance.

Albany Man Is Hurt In Thruway Mishap

While driving his car north on the State Thruway near mile post 79, Town of New Palz, shortly after 8:15 a. m. today, Harry Edgar Hoeltzel Jr., of 51 Huribert Street, Albany, lost control and went down an embankment.

Trooper J. F. Ryan of the Thruway detail of state police said the youth was passing another car when he lost control. The vehicle veered off the superhighway, went down an embankment and through the woods knocking down four trees and stopping against the fifth tree.

Hoeltzel was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambulance and treated for back and neck injuries.

Trooper Ryan said a charge is pending.

BRIDGE

Always Easy to Bid Badly

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Some bridge players pride themselves on the soundness of their opening bids. We have no quarrel with this policy as long as they don't feel, once they pass with one of those hands that most other players open, that they have been given a special license to make horrible overcalls.

Most players would open the South hand with one diamond. The hand includes 12 high card points a very good five-card suit and a couple of tens. This South elected to pass and if he could just have stayed out of the bidding from then on, East and West were well on their way to trouble. Even if they had stopped at one no-trump they were due for a 200-point penalty and they might have worked their way a lot higher.

South must have thought "Why should they be penalized when we can get set ourselves?" He bid two diamonds.

West wasn't sure what to do but he decided to double. No one had anywhere to go although when the hand was over, East and West having marked 800 points onto their side of the ledger, North did express some ideas on where South might go. The defense was not brilliant but it was adequate. West opened the king of hearts. East started an echo with his seven so West cashed the aces of hearts and spades. Then he gave East a heart ruff.

East returned a spade for West to ruff. Then West led ace and a small club. East was in with the king and led another spade.

Former 'Rawhide' Star Is Drowning Victim

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Television actor Eric Fleming drowned in a remote river in Peru's back country while filming a jungle picture, the U.S. Embassy announced today.

Fleming, 41, was on location in the Tingo Maria area, 340 miles northeast of Lima, an embassy spokesman said.

Fleming, star of the television series "Rawhide," was lost when his canoe capsized in the swift-flowing Huallaga River Wednesday.

Ruling Is Given In Death of Man Drowned in Creek

Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser today gave a verdict of accidental death due to asphyxiation from drowning in the case of Ronald J. Walton, 34, of 11 Wurts Street, whose body was taken from the Rondout Creek on Friday.

Authorities said Walton apparently was walking along the creek when he fell in near a dock. He had been missing since Sept. 23.

The body was discovered yesterday morning by John L. Schrader, of 46 Esopus Avenue, an employee of the Kingston Freeman. Police later recovered the body with the assistance of Anthony Fontane, of Route 28, Ashokan, who obtained a boat from the Dwyer Boat Basin.

Deer Cause Mishap

Rain slick pavement and two deer standing in the roadway were contributing factors in a one car accident and various bruises for Velma Cipriano, 22, of Krum Elbow Road, Hyde Park, early this morning. According to state police at Rhinebeck, the accident occurred at 2:45 a. m. today in the Town of Hyde Park at the entrance to Norrie Point and the intersection of Albany Post Road and Route 9. According to Trooper F. J. Petraglie, who investigated, Miss Cipriano was driving her 1964 coupe south on Albany Post Road when she sighted two deer in the road. She said she rapidly applied her brakes, causing the car to skid off the left side of the roadway. Authorities said the vehicle struck a telephone pole, rolled back and came to rest, facing west. The injured woman was taken to Vassar Hospital.

A Frenchman Brought the Gypsy Moth to the U. S. A.

Another Frenchman is going to destroy them with the unbelievable invention of a combination of 16 tree saps in the form of syrup — absolutely non-poisonous — acts like quicksand, the more they debate the more they get stuck. Will catch any kind of moth in general, gypsy moth in particular, plus flies, mosquitoes, field mice, etc. One trap—$20 (or on consignment)—will cover up to 1000 acres. Act now, as the corn and apple borers will become moths and lay thru October, to prevent destruction by their caterpillars next spring and summer. Each dollar spent on this invention will save you thousands of dollars. Write or call for further explanation.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Buyers of new Ford and Chrysler automobiles won't have to pay as much for them as originally announced.

Ford and Chrysler during the week rolled back part of their price increases to be competitive with General Motors, which has more than 50 per cent of the market.

Original average price increases for 1967 models were $107 for Ford, $92 for Chrysler and $54 for General Motors. Ford cut its boost $41 to $66 and Chrysler slashed its hike $28 to $64.

Ford's price increases, the first to be announced, were called "regrettable" by President Johnson and "scandalous and shocking" by Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers.

Consider 'Public Interest'

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said he understood that the President's Council of Economic Advisers met over a period of time with representatives of the automobile industry "to express what we consider the public interest in the matter."

The government also took a hand in the color television price situation. The Commerce Department and the Council of Economic Advisers called executives of 10 television and electronics companies to a meeting in Washington and urged them to recognize the public interest in making price decisions.

But the Johnson administration received no assurances from industry leaders that they would either rescind recent television set price increases or refrain from future rises.

Sylvania on Bandwagon

About the same time, Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., said it would raise prices on almost all of its 21- and 25-inch color television sets by 2.1 per cent. At retail the increases will add from $10 to $25 to prices of most of the 28 models in those screen sizes.

The company said the increases were necessary to offset the recent higher costs of materials going into color television sets, particularly copper, receiving tubes and cabinets.

On another price front, Crown Zellerbach Corp. increased its price for newsprint in Western markets three per cent to $138 a ton from $134. The company said the action was due to higher cost of labor and materials. Other producers were studying the move.

Little Chance of Recession

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and Gardner Ackley, chairman of the council of Economic Advisers, said there is little chance of a recession next year.

The danger for next year, according to Ackley, would be "on the side of too much demand rather than too little." Fowler said that apprehensions in August about rigidity in the financial market "are by the boards" in the wake of President Johnson's anti-inflation recommendations.

The National Association of Business Economists reported that nearly three-fourths of the country's industry economists foresee continued expansion at a slower rate in 1967 than in 1966 and a recession by 1970.

Forecast High Output

The experts who guide industry's investment, price and purchasing policies forecast a 1967 national output of $781 billion in goods and services, six per cent above this year's estimated $737 billion. The expected increase would compare with one of about $56 billion this year.

The National Machine Tool Builders' Association reported that machine tool orders in August dropped 11 per cent from July, but unfilled orders continued to grow. Despite the decline to $133 million, new orders still were one per cent above August 1965.

Automobile production for the week was estimated at 184,600 passenger cars, up 7 per cent from 172,007 the previous week and up 9 per cent from 168,975 last year.

Steel production declined during the week 0.9 per cent to 2,645,000 tons from 2,671 million the previous week.

Rocky Proclaims Architect Week

In an unprecedented proclamation by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller relating to the practice of architecture — the first for architects ever to come out of Albany — has proclaimed the week of Oct. 3 to 9, as "Architects Week" in New York State.

In his proclamation, the governor paid tribute to a "particularly brilliant corps of gifted and distinguished architects," who "monuments to their talents are to be seen all around us."

He said the "New York architecture can be compared favorably with the best of the classic periods of this art." The proclamation also referred to the "War on Ugliness" the New York State Association of Architects, as an affiliate of the American Institute of Architects, has been conducting, and which will culminate in a celebration of the state organization will hold at its convention at Whiteface Inn on Lake Placid, from Oct. 5 to 9. The governor has been invited to speak.

Assessors to Meet

A meeting of the Ulster County Assessors' Association will be held in the Ulster County Office Building in Kingston, on Oct. 5 at 8 p. m., for the resumption of business after the summer recess. The agenda will include procedures and problems associated with the administration of the 65 and over 50 per cent exemption under the laws of 1966, Section 467, Chapter 616; Amendment to the By-Laws adding a section creating a board of directors to take care of the affairs of the association; and The Proposed Assessment Improvement Bill will be reviewed if time permits. A Question-Answer session will also be held.

Killed in Crash

CARTHAGE, N.Y. (AP) — Thomas T. Tewkesbury, 42, of Carthage, near Watertown, died Friday in Carthage Area Hospital of injuries suffered earlier in the day when the automobile he was driving went off Route 3 near here and struck a tree. Tewkesbury lived at 217 North School St.

Heresy Charged Against Former Po'keepsie Rector

A former Poughkeepsie Episcopal Rector, now Bishop of California, has "a moral obligation to withdraw from the church," says the bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Albany.

According to an Associated Press story, the Rt. Rev. Allen W. Brown said Friday he would support the Rt. Rev. Henry I. Louttit of South Florida, who has charged Bishop James A. Pike with heresy.

In the opinion of some Episcopal leaders, Bishop Pike's teachings have confused laymen and have been at odds with church doctrine.

"We have no quarrel with free inquiry or intellectual freedom. The point is that, if one in his thinking takes himself out of the framework of a church, then he has a moral obligation to withdraw from that church," Bishop Brown told The Associated Press Friday.

Bishop Pike, now an auxiliary bishop, also is a member of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions at Santa Barbara, Calif.

He has been dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City, rector of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and chaplain at Columbia University, New York City.

Question Customs Official on Sale Of B-26 Bombers

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A U.S. Customs agent has denied that he knows the present whereabouts of a Tucson, Ariz., business man indicted in a conspiracy to illegally export seven B-26 bombers to Portugal.

The agent, Richard E. Pyne, added Friday that he didn't believe anyone in the government knew, either.

The missing man is Gregory R. Board, 45, who reportedly fled to Jamaica before he could be arrested.

Pyne's comment came during testimony in the U.S. District Court trial of three other men accused of participating in the plan.

Had Spare Parts

Pyne said he met Board at the Rochester-Monroe County Airport Sept. 10, 1965 after the accused man landed in a C-46 cargo plane containing spare parts for the bombers.

Under defense questioning, the Customs agent said Board told him he was on his way to Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Dallas and that the planes were being renovated for civilian use.

He said he knew Board and two of the defendants, Count Henri de Montmarin, a Paris businessman, and John R. Hawke, a former Royal Air Force pilot now of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., were placed on surveillance when they appeared in Miami, Fla.

The other defendant is Woodrow W. Roderick of Tucson.

Asked whether he knew the surveillance continued until Board left for Jamaica, Pyne replied: "It is my understanding he bought a ticket for Pittsburgh. I still don't know how he got out of the country."

Pyne said he could not arrest Board and the others in Rochester because he had no evidence that a crime had been committed.

Another witness was Thomas W. Cross of New York City, assistant vice president of the Bank of America's Middle East-Africa Division.

Sent to Portugal

He said a "Count de Montmarin" told him about 18 months ago that 20 B-26 bombers were to be exported to Portugal for use in training Portuguese pilots and cadets.

Cross was unable, however, to identify the defendant de Montmarin as the man with whom he spoke.

He said the Bank of America was the reimbursing agent for a Tucson bank that administered a $694,000 letter of credit in the deal from Lubar S.A., a Swiss firm from which de Montmarin acted as agent, to Aero Associates Inc. of Tucson, a company headed by Board.

Cross said that during their 20-minute conversation, the man he identified as "Count de Montmarin" told him the planes were to be flown to Lisbon and were not to leave Portugal.

Judge John O. Henderson recessed the trial until Tuesday morning.

Limb Falls on Car

Jansen Fowler, 21 John Street, notified police Friday that a large limb fell from a tree near the Senate Parking Lot and hit his car causing some damage.

SHOWTIME

THE COLORFUL WORLD OF ENTERTAINMENT
FULL WEEK'S TV LISTINGS FOR WEEK OF OCT. 2nd THRU OCT. 8th

PREVIEW: Jim Nabors meets you at the gate Wednesday evening, Oct. 12, and hopes you'll join his "Friends and Nabors" on CBS. On the welcoming committee: Ronnie Schell, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Andy Griffith, Marilyn Horne and Shirley Jones.

Some Things Pretty Special Behind Upcoming Jim Nabors Special

By ISOBEL ASHE

You can't please all the people all the time. This cliché was never more applicable than to television.

But this year, as in past television seasons, perhaps the shows that will attract the most attention are the specials.

One to watch is coming up—Wednesday night, Oct. 12th. It is titled Friends and Nabors. The last word is not misspelled. It refers to Jim Nabors, star of his own Gomer Pyle series on CBS television, where this special will be seen from 9-10 p. m. Eastern time.

The friends: Andy Griffith, on whose series Nabors got his television start, Tennessee Ernie Ford, opera singer Marilyn Horne, Ronnie Schell (who's on the Gomer Pyle series), and beautifully talented Shirley Jones, billed on the program as "special guest friend."

And special she is, considering the range of versatility she displays on this show, from straight comedy and singing to a spoof of Ginger Rogers, with Nabors playing Fred Astaire. Then, she turns time backward a bit, becoming Shirley Temple at age 6.

(What would variety performers ever have done for impersonations, if wigs hadn't been perfected?)

Shirley prefers not to ponder that subject.

The behind the scenes story of this special is one that won't turn up on your television set, and it's almost as interesting as the actual show.

Once-upon-a-time, as stories have been known to start...

just a year ago Andy Griffith starred in his own special. The date was Oct. 7, and his guests were Don Knotts and Jim Nabors. The show was a reprise of the night club act the trio had done at a northern California resort. It was turned into a television special by Richard O. Linke, Andy's long-time manager, friend and associate producer of the Griffith series.

The show was a smash. That's putting it mildly. The sponsor (American Motors) was happy and wanted more. The idea of the show was to introduce their new line of cars. And critical comment accrued to the commercials, in themselves an innovation, in that other cars' names were actually mentioned OUT LOUD! They were tastefully done, by the way.

And as someone said—why tamper with success? So again we have Richard O. Linke packaging a program with some of the same ingredients that made his first offering so successful.

Now let it be noted that Linke, in his disarming way a year ago, commented: "If this show isn't a success, I'll give up producing and go back to being a boy manager."

Chronologically, there might be those who'd query Linke's description of "boy." He's in his early 40s. Manager he is, and then some.

And Linke states, without qualification: "This special will make Jim a giant in show business."

What other stars of their own series get into their own specials? Few. What other stars are surrounded with the finest behind-scenes ingredients that can be gotten together? Still fewer.

Without benefit of crystal ball, then, one may speculate that Friends and Nabors will be a good show.

Jim Nabors will dance again. A year ago, after he attempted some dancing on the Griffith special, he said, "I'll never dance again on television." Which just proves that you can't take anyone's word as definite. Someone's persuasiveness prevailed, and this time out we have Nabors dancing, but doing his version of Fred Astaire and Rudolf Nureyev, complete with tights and leotard.

Shirley Jones, who knows this dancing business, compares him to Ray Bolger (which isn't bad.) In her words, "He's like a well-trained scarecrow doing ballet. I think he's potentially a good dancer."

If choreographer Nick Castle has his way, Nabors will realize that potential. He worked him hard enough.

The famed Nabors operatic voice will be utilized too, in duets with Marilyn Horne. The opera singer, better known to opera devotees than television variety show buffs, was lauded this way last spring in the Los Angeles Times in a review of a recital:

"Marilyn Horne is one of the

Barefoot-type of hominess in a skit from "Friends & Nabors" the CBS special Wednesday October 12—, 9-10 p. m. Eastern time. . . . ANDY GRIFFITH and ERNIE FORD are the perpetrators of the bit, above

Meet the "neighbors" of Friends and Nabors, the CBS special starring JIM NABORS, Wednesday October 12, 9-10 p. m. Eastern Time . . . MARILYN HORNE, SHIRLEY JONES, JIM NABORS, ANDY GRIFFITH, TENNESSEE ERNIE FORD & RONNIE SCHELL are the pyramided above

Marriages Made In Television

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD—There's still another "marriage" in Meredith MacRae's future.

The first was to Tim Considine on the TV series My Three Sons. It was a marriage of convenience, for the producers. Tim was growing too old for Fred MacMurray's apron strings so his marriage to Meredith wiped both of them out of the series.

A week later, Meredith was at the altar again, this time for real. She became the bride of Richard Berger, an accountant who now juggles figures for such 20th Century-Fox TV shows as Batman and Lost in Space.

Comes now marriage No. 3 for Meredith. She has joined the cast of CBS-TV's Petticoat Junction as Billie Jo. Also new to the cast is Mike Minor, in the role of an airplane pilot who literally crashes down in Petticoat Junction and who eventually will lead Meredith to the altar.

The ideal, according to CBS, is for still another series co-starring Meredith and Mike as young newlyweds.

It's all rather ironic. Meredith left still another TV series to join Petticoat Junction cast. The show was The Young Marrieds, but Meredith played an unmarried.

MERIDITH MACRAE

"And four years ago," she laughs, "I was up for the role of Billie Jo but I didn't get past the casting director. He took one look at me and said, 'No, you're not right for the role.'"

Since leaving My Three Sons, Meredith has appeared in a movie, the soon-to-be-released "Footsteps in the Snow," and she has discovered that live TV soap opera "can be extremely helpful in learning to act."

She has also discovered "the method."

She was late for lunch because of her weekly method acting class. "It's great fun," she reported. "They teach you, for instance, how to play a love scene with an actor you've just met on the set for the first time. You look back in your life and pretend he's someone out of your past—your first love, maybe."

"But I guess," she lamented, "I won't have too much of an opportunity to use the method on Petticoat Junction."

For one thing she knows Mike Minor, her new boy friend on the show. That's ironic, too. He's the son of Don Fedderson, producer of My Three Sons.

TV Shorts

Hope Quips

It's hard to top Bob Hope for great lines. After seeing one of his 1938 movies on television he cracked, "Watching it was like seeing a son I never had."

More Females

Frank Sutton says that more and more episodes of Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C. will take place away from the marine base. That means an opportunity to work more females into the script.

Good and Bad

Art Carney, talking about his friend and co-star Jackie Gleason, says, "He has tasted failure and he has risen to the heights; he has eaten caviar and he has eaten crow."

Patricia Harty Comedy Star

NEW YORK—"I always play girls a little sexy, a little cute and a little shrewd," said Patricia Harty as she eyed the tumbling waterfall in Rockefeller Center's Plaza.

Under a big umbrella, basking in the late summer sun, the blonde actress was convinced her current assignment was right up her alley.

At the moment she plays Greta Veblen, the "make believe wife" of Michael Callan in the new NBC-TV comedy series, Occasional Wife.

Besides being "sexy" and "cute," the role gives her an opportunity she said, to lie a lot.

"It's a tremendous challenge," she mused. "I'm replacing Richard Chamberlain. I'm the network's newest blonde."

Miss Harty said she hadn't always been a blonde. When she left home (Washington, D. C.) at 16 she was a brunette. She promised her mother if she had to do anything foolish, she'd be right back.

She never went home again. To her surprise Broadway took a quick liking to her, and cast her as dancing ingenues in "Fiorello" and "Sail Away." Next came a meaty acting role as Barbara Harris' replacement in "Oh Dad, Poor Dad."

However, Miss Harty waited seven years before she did her first film, playing the other woman, in "Harvey Middleman, Fireman."

PATRICIA HARTY

"I was offered a long-term contract when I was in 'Fiorello,' but I just didn't want to be another starlet. Besides it was more interesting doing guest roles on television," she said, adding that television was more demanding and challenging for an actress.

She is love with her character of Greta and considers herself much more square in real life.

Happily married for three years to her manager, Tom Kearney, she saves her money to furnish the couple's 12 room, 126-year-old farmhouse in New Hampshire's White Mountains.

most extraordinary singers of our day. She is currently using the mezzo-soprano label, but she refuses to abide by customary range and/or type classifications. She can effectively snarl her way through dramatic contralto parts, take off in spectacular coloratura flights without batting a vocal eyelash, toss off subtle embellishments as if the Baroque ere were still with us, and command a span of both color and volume that is astounding. She is, in short, a phenomenon. Talents like hers are rare in anyone's lifetime."

Music lovers of the world, the above paragraph would indicate it's "Friends and Nabors" for you.

Andy Griffith steps out of his sheriff's role on this show. He plays a genie, introducing the other guests on the show.

Naturally he'll do a monolog which is perhaps just a bit wilder than any to date.

Tennessee Ernie Ford works pretty hard on the special too, particularly in a medley of railroad tunes that he does with Jim.

Then there's a skit back home on the farm with nothing sacred—including the peacock of that network—spoofing TV shows' ratings and even gentlemen's unmentionables.

It's truly a funny script, written by producers-writers Saul Ilson and Ernest Chambers, described by one wag as "refugees from the battery of Danny Kaye writers." The pair were also responsible for this past summer's John Gary series.

The show is directed by Stan Harris, imaginative director of the Steve Lawrence show last season, and whose other claim to fame is, to quote a friend who has to remain anonymous:

"Stan Harris set a North American record by showing up for a Saturday morning rehearsal in coat and tie!" This, gentle reader, is practically unheard-of in informal Hollywood. Some directors will obviously go to any lengths to attract attention, even to dressing properly to go to work.

Thus you have Friends and Nabors. The title isn't exactly a misnomer, as Nabors wanted to make clear.

"I knew Ernie Ford way back when I was just a film editor here in Hollywood. Andy gave me my chance on television and Marilyn's my neighbor out in San Fernando Valley."

"And I couldn't do the show without Ronnie Schell; we're too accustomed to working together on Gomer."

Ronnie, it should be noted, summed up his activity on the special thusly:

"It's the first script I ever read on which my part was written on the head of a pin. Fortunately I am a fancier of pins."

Friends and Nabors should make a lot of friends for Nabors. It's practically a foregone conclusion.

Real Boy

David Carradine, who is so good as Shane on ABC-TV, is the son of actor John Carradine. He says, despite this, he led a normal childhood. "My father took me on the set only once. I'd say I led the usual boy's life, climbing and falling out of trees."

Lucy in London

Lucille Ball's forthcoming TV special, Lucy in London, has already inspired a sequel. This one is Lucy in Arabia, but will be a fantasy, probably filmed on the Hollywood sound stages.

Sigrid Valdis Models Blouse

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — Sigrid Valdis, all blonde and busty, arrived on the set of Hogan's Heroes to play her first scene as Hilda, the Camp Commandant's new secretary and Bob Crane's new girl friend.

She was wearing what she will always wear on the show. "It's the first tailored peasant blouse I ever heard of," she laughed. "It's as tight and as low cut as possible."

Well, when Sigrid walked on the set in her tailored peasant blouse, the first thing director Bob Sweeney did was a triple double take.

Then he said, "Miss Valdis, has THAT blouse been approved?"

In the sexy voice that matches her looks, Sigrid replied:

"Oh, yes, EVERYBODY approves."

But there are problems, Sigrid admits.

"I've noticed," she smiled, "that they are very careful about not letting me lean over."

Last season's Helga wore Peter Pan blouses and had little to do, in or out of the office. "Now," says Sigrid, "they tell me I'll be well involved with Bob Crane's schemes and in on the payoffs such as smuggling nylon stockings into camp."

SIGRID VALDIS

Which, with Sigrid in THAT blouse, no one will ever notice what's on her legs.

Lighting up movie scenes in bit roles has been Sigrid's specialty until now. She was, for example, the girl in a mink coat and nothing else in a fleeting moment in the Sinatra-Dean Martin movie, "Marriage on The Rocks."

She was one of Flint's girls, sparking another scene in "Our Man Flint." She's also taken her talent to the Red Skelton and Wild West shows.

A native of Los Angeles, Sigrid became a model at 13 and later studied drama with Stella Adler in New York. While living in New York she managed a foreign automobile showroom on Park Avenue for six months.

A male friend, she explains, "had this showroom and it was dying — he hadn't sold a car in six months — so I offered to help him out."

Well, with Sigrid roaming around that showroom in a black leotard and long blonde hair, business boomed.

"We sold cars like crazy," she reports.

Richard Adler, Can't Say No

By BILL BYERS

NEW YORK—Richard Adler, a man who can't say "no" to presidents, returns to television after an eight-year absence.

Since 1960, the composer who was once busy on Broadway with "Damn Yankees" and "The Pajama Game," has been a talent consultant to the White House.

He was going to quit after President Kennedy was assassinated but found he was at a loss for words when President Johnson asked him to stay on.

"I found I just couldn't turn him down," gulped Adler the other day. "What can you say to a President?"

His return to television came about under the watchful eye of Mrs. Johnson. Leonard Goldenson, the president of ABC-TV, asked Adler at a party attended by Lady Bird if he wanted to write a new musical for the network's new ABC Stage '67 series.

"I wanted to say, 'no,' but couldn't," recalled Adler. "All I could say was that television wasn't for me. I'd had some bad experiences in 1958 (he had worked with David Susskind and on a Hallmark show) and found the medium much too quick, much too dangerous."

"Finally, Goldenson said he would give me the full run of the show. Not only could I write its lyrics and music but I could be its executive producer, too. And you can't beat opportunity like that," said the composer, with enthusiasm.

Mrs. Johnson, Adler added, was pleased the deal was made.

The results of the deal will be seen this season in a musical called, "Olympus 7-0000."

It stars Donald O'Connor as a Greek god who helps a New England coach with an inept football team have a winning season. Also prominent in the cast are Phyllis Newman, Fred Clark, Lou Jacobi and Larry Blyden, as the coach, and the New York Jets, as the team.

Adler, however, doesn't plan on writing any more for television this season. He is currently at work on two Broadway musicals, "Mother's Kisses" and "When in Rome."

Will he go back to the White House?

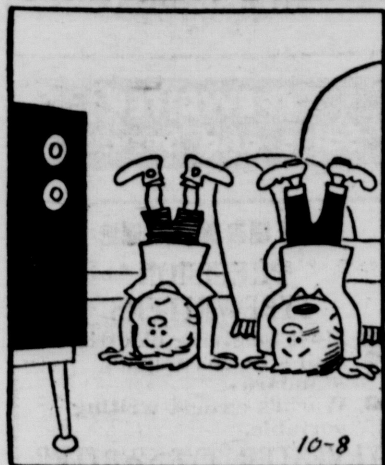

"If he calls, I will," said the composer and talent consultant.

Susskind Show Debut, Oct. 2

Senator Robert F. Kennedy and controversial folk-singer Pete Seeger are the first two guests on WNEU-TV's newest discussion series, "The David Susskind Show." They both appear on the show's debut, Sunday, Oct. 2, 9 to 11 p. m., in color over WNEU-TV (Channel 5).

A program concept differing from that of Susskind's previous discussion shows, the new series involves a studio audience in informal conversation. In this comfortable setting, Pete Seeger performs, talks about his career and discusses politics. Senator Kennedy talks not only about politics, but comments on a variety of subjects including smoking, television, the movies and his reading habits.

TV Scout Reports

Ron Hayes, before he was cast in the comedy The Rounders on ABC-TV, played villains mostly. His children (he has three of his own and three step-children) always think this is very funny casting. "I'm the biggest softie around them," he says.

Now there is a "Celebrity Cookbook" being published by Price/Stern/Sloan (who hit the jackpot with Don Adams' "Would You Believe?"). Among contributors are Lucille Ball, Shirley Booth, Jimmy Durante, Arlene Francis, Dean Martin and Gypsy Rose Lee.

(Wonder if Gypsy's recipe starts, "First you peel a banana . . .")

Terry Becker, who is a regular on Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea, was born Solomon Becker. He worked for a time as Terry Webb, a name taken from his favorite comic strip character (Terry and the Pirate and bandleader Chick Webb. Eventually he went back to his real last name, but kept the Terry.

Honesty Is Her Policy

NEW YORK — When you talk to Judy Carne, the co-star of the new ABC-TV comedy series, Love on a Rooftop, you are convinced she is the most honest girl you have ever met.

With her upturned nose, lean, pretty English face and school-girl-cut red hair she appears an innocent teen-ager.

"I'm 27," she says, "and frankly tired of my press agents saying I'm 24 or 25. It's foolish in this day and age to lie about your age."

Judy also thinks it's foolish that some network people have denied her series isn't at all like the Broadway comedy, "Barefoot in the Park."

"Of course, it is," she said during her first visit to New York. "It's very much like 'Barefoot.' But instead of taking place in New York it takes place in San Francisco."

She and Peter Deuel play newlyweds in Love on a Rooftop — young marrieds who are trying hard to live on an impoverished salary. Their apartment is a windowless (to start) walkup overlooking the Golden Gate Bridge.

It's the actress' third series. She was brought here for Fair Exchange and then stayed for Baileys of Balboa. Rooftop, however, gives her her first starring assignment.

Judy's home is Northampton, England, famous she says for "booze and shoes."

"Actually, it's a wild city. But you could die from boredom there," she adds.

JUDY CARNE

She has been here four years. Two years ago she married actor Burt Reynolds, who appears this season in the New York-produced cops and robbers series. The Hawk. The couple is now separated. In November, their divorce becomes final.

Before moving to the U. S., Judy was best known in England for her work in London musicals. She replaced Julie Andrews in "The Boyfriend" and Elizabeth Seal in "Irma La Douce."

Her plans now are never to return to England to live.

"I don't want to become an American citizen. I want to remain English, yet I don't want to live in England," she says. "It's a nice place to visit — only."

ANOTHER REDGRAVE in the act, Lynn, daughter of veteran British actor Sir Michael Redgrave and younger sister of rising star Vanessa, arrives in New York from London for the premiere of the new film, "Georgy Girl," in which she plays the title role.

TV Questions And Answers

CALL HER MOM—Is Joan Crawford the mother of Joanie Sommers, the singer—Mrs. William Martinelli Miami, Fla.

No. Joan's children, all adopted, are Christina, Christopher, Cynthia and Cathy.

LOST ROLE—Will Charles Briles return to his role as Eugene Barkley on The Big Valley?—S. C., Utica, N. Y.

No. He has been written out of the series. Supposedly, Eugene is away at school.

BATMAN'S ENEMIES—Why do Batman and Robin talk so stiltedly? Are Adam West and Burt Ward trying to get laughs or are they lousy actors?—Chris Short, Tarpon Springs, Fla.

They hope they are getting laughs.

JEANNIE'S CRITICS—Don't you think Barbara Eden is much too big to fit inside that bottle on I Dream of Jeannie? Is it a camera trick?—Paul W., Norfolk, Va.

Camera tricks are employed on the comedy series. But when you see miss Eden as Jeannie in the bottle you are actually seeing her on a set that is about the size of a large walk-in closet.

Who is right? My girl friend's brother says Noel Harrison is 45 and the father of George Harrison of The Beatles. I say he is 25 and the son of actor Rex Harrison. —Alice Clark, La Crosse, Wis.

The brother must be kidding you. Noel is 32 and the son of Rex. The actor, who plays Mark Slate on The Girl From U.N.C.L.E., is not related to George.

Is actor Frank Aletter married to a former Miss America?—Mrs. Gladys Wickett, Edina, Minn.

Yes. His wife, Lee Meriwether won the title in 1955. Now an actress, she plays Dr. Ann MacGregor in the new ABC-TV series, The Time Tunnel. Aletter is featured this season on It's About Time on CBS-TV. The couple, married since 1958, live in Granada Hills, Calif., with their two small daughters.
